We go one better Feb. 1!

We just went one better, and it's coming Saturday, Feb. 1.

Beginning that morning, Paddock Publications will publish a sixth edition of the daily Herald, a Saturday-weekend edition with emphasis on the news of the suburbs, the state and the world, with a large touch of entertainment added.

In announcing the new edition, Herald vice president and general manager David A. Roe said, "This is another milestone in the rapid evolution of The Herald, which has grown from weekly to six-day frequency in just eight years. As the only daily newspaper published in the Northwest suburbs, we view it as an exciting, forward-looking move to fill a weekend void and broaden our service to readers and advertisers."

THE SATURDAY Herald will contain the latest news of your community and, as usual, a readable summary of the news of the world. Our emphasis, as always, will be on the people and the events of the day, but there will be many extras:

- The latest in suburban sports. Winners and losers of the previous night's games with The Herald's usual high-quality sports photography.
- A brand new Leisure pullout section, with lots of ideas for places to go and things to do. Movies, restaurants, theater, special events in a handy package, plus regular features about hobbies and games.
- The week's entire television listings in one handy package, and a roundup of the week's television movies.
- A special accent on weddings and engagements in Suburban Living.
- Special features on the suburban scene in a new, Page 1 column. Each week, The Herald news staff will devote special attention to a news event or a personality and take you behind the scenes for a close look.

The Saturday Herald will offer the most complete, total look at the Northwest suburbs for readers and advertisers. On Saturday, Feb. 1, the Herald will go one better.

Demand for recycled goods drops

Reclamation center may shut its doors

by JOHN MAES

The Buffalo Grove glass and paper reclamation center may be closed because of rising costs, fewer volunteers and reduced demand for recycled newspapers.

The village's environmental commission has voted to shut down the center behind the municipal building, 50 Raupp Blvd. The village board is expected to confirm the action.

"The labor involved with the hauling company just about canceled out any profit we would make," said Barbara Miller, chairman of the environmental group.

She also said the commission is currently short three members and lacks the necessary manpower to oversee the center.

In addition, a poor paper market and glass-contamination problems led to the rejection of many loads of recyclable materials, which ended up being dumped in a sanitary landfill near Waukegan.

WILLIAM BALLING, village administrative assistant, said recyclers were rejecting entire loads of glass because lids and caps on bottles and jars had not been removed.

"The program would continue if we could recycle the materials but we couldn't do that under the current collection methods," Balling said.

The village has been studying the recycling project since late 1971 when Trustee Randall Rathjen, then environmental commission chairman, said officials should make some effort to conserve material resources.

Balling said figures were not kept on the amounts of materials brought to the center but estimated at least 118 tons of paper in the past year.

He said the center was "generating volume" but said the project still suffered from a lack of use, estimating resident participation was only about one-fifth as good as officials were hoping.

For a village the size of Buffalo Grove, Balling said residents should have been delivering about 70 tons of paper monthly but the project was not very well promoted. He estimated the totals were probably between 13 and 23 tons.

THE VILLAGE had an arrangement with Raupp Dispoal Co., the village scavenger service, to donate the bins and periodically haul away the tonnage, but lack of revenues from poor markets and rejection of loads made it difficult to support the program, said Balling.

In deciding to close the village reclamation center, the environmental commission said residents can take reusable glass to the Arlington Heights Fire Station, 3100 N. Arlington Heights Rd. Old newspapers can be contributed to HELPS, Help Ensure Lasting Paramedic Service, that has monthly paper drives and contributes its proceeds to the fire department paramedic servicie.

The only other alternative would have been to hire a private reclamation firm to take over the operation, but Balling said that would have been a direct form of competition with the HELPS program.

The environmental panel said its recommendation is "not an abondonment of the concept of collection — we're just establishing an alternative."

THE COMMITTEE has endorsed HELPS and Mrs. Miller said residents who previously had dropped off papers at the reclamation center should bring them instead to the HELPS' paper drives the first Saturday of each month in the parking lot of the Ranch Mart Shopping Center, Dundee and Buffalo Grove roads.

"We hate to discourage people from getting out of the habit as long as the paper gets recycled," she said.

The bins adjacent to the village hall are expected to be taken away within a few days.

Mrs. Miller said the commission is hopeful the closing will be only temporary and said the group will look into ways of reopening the center.

Stranger danger film to be shown

The Buffalo Grove Jayceettes will show the film, "Nay Nay From Strangers Stay Away" Saturday, Jan. 25, at the Striker bowling lanes, 100 W. Dundee Rd.

The film is designed to alert children to the dangers of accepting rides and talking to strangers.

Serious-crime rate up 37.6% in '74

Serious crimes in Buffalo Grove, including burglary attempts, increased 37.6 per cent during 1974.

Figures released this week by the police department show a total of 710 serious crimes committeed in 1974. This was a rise of 194 reported crimes.

Most of the increase came in thefts with 472 reported, an increase of 310 or 52.3 per cent. However, the police department cleared at least 153 of the theft cases by arrests or other means. Sixty-nine were cleared by the juvenile authorities and 84 by the adult investigative section. Figures for adult investigative activities were only available for the last eight months of the year.

BURGLARIES AND attempts stayed about the same with last year's 115 being only 11 more than reported in 1973. There were 50 burglaries and 3 attempts investigated since May, with 30 being cleared by arrests.

There were 63 burglaries and 41 attempts reported in 1973, when statistics on cases cleared by arrests were unavailable.

There was 1 robbery last year, 2 rapes and 2 cases of bodily harm. Auto thefts increased by 2 for a total of 22. Since May, 6 of 12 auto thefts were cleared by police. In the final serious crime categogry, the 96 other assaults last year were an increase of 18.

Other than thefts, the other area of major increase during 1974 was vandalism with the 483 reported cases being an increase of 160 or nearly 50 per cent. Ninety-two cases were cleared with the arrests of juveniles and 91 were cleared by the arrests of adults (those 17 and older).

THE MAJOR innovation during the year was the beginning of an investigation section, headed by Sgt. Ken-

Village fire calls increase by 23%

The Buffalo Grove Fire Dept. was less busy than expected last year even though the number of calls handled by the department increased 23.5 per cent.

A total of 872 responses were made in 1974, an increase of 166 from the 1973 total. Yet, because of the projected population growth figures, fire department officials had estimated at the beginning of last year that they would be called upon to answer 900 calls.

Statistics released Thursday show there were 189 structural fires (an increase of 35); 472 ambulance runs (up by 53); 135 outside fires (also up by 53), and 76 mutual-aid calls to other communities (up by 32) last year.

In a slightly different time span — from November 1973 to October 1974 — the fire department handled 62 heart attack patients and responded to 35 traffic accidents where there were injuries. Other medical runs in the same period totaled 265.

THE START OF the fire department's ambulance service in 1972 and the still more recent addition of the paramedic program have contributed heavily to the increase in calls handled by the fire department. Only 373 total calls were handled by the department in 1972, while the 1974 ambulance runs were 472 or just over 26.5 per cent more than all of 1972's calls.

Although no statistics are available, Fire Chief Wayne Winter has said that more fires are occurring in the older section of town between Lake-Cook and Dundee roads.

The Buffalo Grove Fire Dept., largely a volunteer force, operates as part of the Wheeling Township Rural Fire Protection District and is independent of the village. It services the Cook County portion of the village, with the Lake County portion being handled by the Long Grove Fire Protection District and the Vernon Fire District.

Murder suspect seized in Kentucky

by TOM VON MALDER

A 31-year-old suspect in three Chicago-area murders including the Nov. 15 shotgun slaying of a Prospect Heights real estate salesman, was arrested Thursday afternoon in Louisville, Ky., by FBI agents.

The suspect, Gary Duane Rardon, formerly of Indianpolis, is being held in the Jefferson County (Ky.) jail, pending a bond hearing today. The bond being recommended is $100,000.

Cook County Sheriff's police late Thursday said Rardon has made "an initial confession" to the murder of Gene Ravenscraft, 28, of 1024 Wheeling Rd., Prospect Heights, at the office of Glenbriar Realty, 215 S. Elmhurst Rd., Prospect Heights.

RAVENSCRAFT WAS shot in the left side of the face in what police now describe as an attempted robbery.

Rardon also is suspected in the Nov. 18 murder of Asher Gruenberg, 50, of Skokie, in a garage sales office in Franklin Park and the murder of a cab driver in Calumet City, police said. Both were shotgun murders during robberies, police said.

The FBI said Rardon had a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun when he was captured on a Franklin Park warrant for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. Sheriff's investigators, who worked with Franklin Park police because of similarities in the two cases, said they will issue a warrant for Rardon.

Franklin Park police said they will extradite Rardon next week. He will be charged with murder, they said.

IN THE GRUENBERG murder, police said Gruenberg's wallet with $30 and credit cards were taken. Police said they were put onto Rardon when the credit cards started being used in several states, including Kentucy, Indiana and Ohio. "We were able to trace the charge slips," a spokesman for Franklin Park police said.

Ravenscraft, who had been a part-time salesman at Glenbriar Realty, was found dead by a coworker in a trailer office attached to the main real estate building. He was discovered sitting at a desk with a pen still held in his hand.

Police said they found no signs of forced entry to the building and no signs of a struggle in the trailer office. The murder weapon was not left at the scene. It is believed Ravenscraft worked late at the office the night before his body was found.

House in chaos over maverick's vote

by BOB LAHEY

A Republican freshman representative threw the Illinois House of Representatives into chaos Thursday when he broke party lines to cast a vote for Democratic Rep. William A. Redmond of Bensenville for speaker of the House.

Rep. Lee Daniels, R-Elmhurst, from Redmond's DuPage County district, became the first GOP member to defy party discipline when he rose at the conclusion of the 89th ballot for speaker to change his vote from Republican leader Rep. James (Bud) Washburn of Morris to Redmond.

Dozens of Democrats immediately leaped to their feet seeking the recognition of the chair. One Democrat reported that many of his party members intended to switch their votes away from Redmond, to prevent his election with the aid of Republicans.

It had been rumored throughout the day in Springfield that there were at least five Republicans willing to defy the will of the GOP caucus and throw their votes to the Democratic frontrunner.

REDMOND SUPPORTERS were reportedly spreading the word on the Republican side of the aisle that he could actually muster 84 Democratic votes, of the 89 needed for election, although he never topped 77 through the nine ballots cast Thursday.

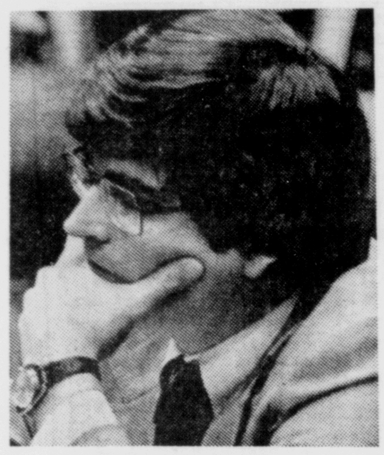
Before that theory could be tested, Sec. of State Michael J. Howlett, presiding over the speakership election, recognized Washburn, who moved for adjournment until Monday afternoon. The motion passed overwhelmingly on a voice vote.

The Democratic reaction to Daniels' crossover seemed to spell the end to Redmond's chances for election as speaker. At the end of Thursday's voting, former Democratic Minority Leader Clyde Choate of Anna still held firm control of 16 votes — enough to block Redmond without GOP help — although Choate's closest backers acknowledge that the former leader now has no chance for election himself.

Monday's session may well be centered on selection of another "compromise candidate" by the Democrats. One Choate supporter described the Thursday session as "an exercise to demonstrate to the mayor (Richard J. Daley of Chicago) that Redmond can't be elected."

The words were reminiscent of anti-Choate Democrats who described the first 41 ballots, during which Daley backed Choate, as an "educational" process to prove that Choate could not be elected.

DALEY THREW the approximately 42 votes he controls to Redmond on the 42nd ballot, and has been described as reluctant to switch again. He also is said to oppose the election of any Democrat who must depend on Republican help, however.



STATE REP. LEE DANIELS

Among the possibilities when the House convenes again Monday is a vote to reopen the nominations in search of a new candidate who could satisfy Daley, the Choate faction, and the independents who have succeeded in blocking Choate, but failed in electing Redmond.

There has been speculation that a freshman Democrat might be selected, a rare event in House history. But one knowledgeable Democrat predicted that none of the 25 or 30 freshmen could be enticed into the job of trying to lead the badly factionalized party. "We're probably going to wind up dragging somebody kicking and screaming into the speaker's chair," he declared.

Suspect in 3 area murders arrested

A 31-year-old suspect in three Chicago area murders, including the Nov. 15 shotgun slaying of a Prospect Heights real estate salesman, was arrested Thursday afternoon in Louisville, Ky., by the FBI. The suspect, Gary Duane Rardon, formerly of Indianapolis, is wanted in the murder of Gene Ravenscraft, 28, of 1024 Wheeling Rd., who was found shot in the face in a Prospect Heights real estate office. Police said Rardon is also wanted in the shotgun slayings of a Skokie man Nov. 18 in Franklin Park and of a Calumet City cab driver.

City sues in sewage plant battle

The eight-year legal battle between Des Plaines and the Metropolitan Sanitary District over a controversial proposal to build a 95-million-gallon-a-day sewage treatment plant was reopened Thursday on two new fronts. The city filed suit in U.S. District Court asking a ruling that its new local health ordinance be adhered to by the sanitary district before federal funds for the plant are approved. The sanitary district also asked the Illinois Supreme Court to expand an earlier ruling against the city so the city health ordinance could not be used to delay plant construction.

Schaumburg cracks burglary ring

Schaumburg police early Thursday cracked a teen-age burglary ring, believed responsible for stealing an estimated $2,500 worth of items from eight houses during the last two weeks. Five Schaumburg youths, ranging in age from 13 to 17, were arrested after patrolmen cornered two of them during a burglary Wednesday morning. The 17-year-old, Norman Slauenwhite Jr.,,was charged with burglary while the four juveniles were charged with 18 counts of burglary.

Promise tax rebate approval; GNP down

From Herald news services

In Washington yesterday, government reports showed the recession was deepening . . . and Congresssional leaders told President Ford they believe an income tax rebate can be enacted by April 1, but not necessarily in the form he requested. In Detroit, Ford Motor Co. said it will launch a cash rebate program more extensive than the one started earlier this week by Chrysler Corp.

The nation's output of goods and services went into the second biggest slump on record in the last three months of 1974 and prices rose at the highest rate on record, the government reported.

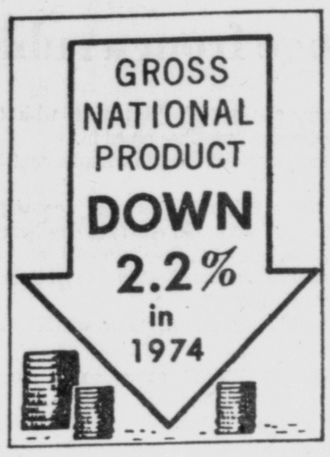
The year ended with four straight quarters of economic decline as measured by the Gross National Product, and the Commerce Department's chief economist, James L. Pate, said the sharpness of the slump does not auger well for the immediate future.

In October, November and December, prices rose 13.7 per cent, the fastest growth in the inflation rate since the government began keeping the records in 1947.

The GNP — the government's key measurement of economic activity — fell an equally startling 9.1 per cent in the last quarter of the year, the sharpest drop since a 9.2 per cent decline in the first quarter of 1958. For the year, the GNP declined 2.2 per cent. It was the biggest annual business slump since 1946.

The government's bleak reports on past and future economic performance came as President Ford sought support for his programs for economic recovery and energy conservation.

Treasury Secretary William Simon said the budget deficits of $30 and $50 billion anticipated in Ford's recovery program "horrifies me but it's necessary to stimulate the economy." He also denied reports he would resign because of his opposition to large deficits, and he said he did not think he would be fired.



White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said congressional leaders of both parties promised the President his $12 billion rebate on 1974 taxes would be enacted with some modifications by April 1.

The President, meanwhile, gave a pep talk to 200 state and local leaders on his new economic and energy proposals. He was given warm applause before and after his 20-minute appearance, but several officials voiced skepticism about his new plan.

In the auto industry, Henry Ford II said the cash rebate program will range from $200 to $500 a car and will cover entire model lines — not specific models such as in the Chrysler plan.

The program will run through the end of February. Ford said the program would start with the company's small cars — the Pinto and the Maverick. Ford said the program also will include light truck models.

Chrysler said Thursday it was expanding its rebate program to include $100 payments to any of its employes who purchase a new 1974 or 1975 Chrysler built car or truck.

General Motors, the one member of the "Big Three" not into the cash rebate program to stimulate sales, has said any customers who buy now will get rebates if prices are cut after their purchase is made.

GM said customers who take delivery of a new GM car or truck between Jan. 13 and March 1 will be fully protected as to any possible price reduction which might be announced in the period.

GM also reported it will call back nearly 35,000 temporarily idled workers next week, but would keep another 10,725 workers off the job at four plant sites.

In another development:

The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union settled with the American Oil Co. and Texaco Thursday, giving 11,700 refinery workers new two-year contracts containing 28.6 per cent pay raises, but ordered a strike at a Mobil Oil Co. refinery at Beaumont, Tex. Union President A. F. Grospiron also issued a 24-hour strike deadline of 1 p.m. CST Friday against Mobil in other states and four more petroleum companies. He said the Mobil strike in Texas involved 1,500 workers.

Soviets want to continue detente

The Soviet Union said Thursday it wants to continue detente and maintain good commercial relations with the United States despite its decision not to carry out the 1972 trade agreement. Diplomatic sources said hursday Soviet Ambassador Anatoliy F. Dobrynin has been recalled to Moscow for urgent discussions on the critical situation arising from Moscow's rejection of the 1972 trade agreement with the United States. Dobrynin will leave Washington for Moscow next Tuesday. Meanwhile, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger acknowledged the Soviet repudiation of the 1972 Soviet-American trade agreement was a setback to international detente, but not a fatal blow. He said the nuclear potential of the U.S. and U.S.S.R. to unleash "a catastrophe for all humanity" would force them to continue seeking cooperative agreements.

IRA declares end to cease-fire

The Irish Republican Army Thursday declared an end to its 25-day cease-fire in Northern Ireland and Britain. In a lengthy statement issued by its ruling Army Council the IRA said it could not extend the cease-fire again because of the "lack of response" from the British government. A leading member of the IRA's political wing said earlier Britain's latest peace concessions in hopes of winning a truce concession were a "mere pittance."

Postal strike linked to new system

The nation's 200,000 letter carriers will strike if the Postal Service implements a new route delivery system, a union official said Thursday. "This is not an idle threat," said James H. Rademacher, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers. "If they put that plan into effect and eliminate 15,000 jobs, we walk out." Assistant Postmaster General James Gildea said the plan is still being studied and denied any job loss figure has been reached.

Chief Justice, Nixon talk questioned

The lawyer for former White House aide Charles W. Colson questioned Thursday whether Chief Justice Warren E. Burger ever directly told President Richard M. Nixon that a suit to obtain the White House Watergate tapes would fail. Ken Adams, a member of Colson's former law firm, talked with Colson about allegations made by former White House Counsel John W. Dean III in a television interview. Adams said Colson did not say whether Nixon had spoken directly with Burger, or whether the former President had received the information second-hand. Dean's account implied that Nixon received the assurance directly from Burger.

Report druggist kickbacks to nurse homes

Druggists have been making kickback payments and gifts to nursing homes on a widespread basis for the privilege of supplying drugs for elderly patients, a Senate committee on aging said Thursday in the third of a series of reports on the fast-growing nursing home industry. The committee also charged that other drug-related abuses in nursing homes include patient addicts, questionable drug experiments on the aged, tranquilizing of patients to make staff work easier, and dangerous dosage errors in perhaps as many as 40 per cent of the drugs given to patients.

Warn of force with occupying Indians

The National Guard commander said Thursday the "time is at hand" to resume negotiations to end the Indian occupation of the Alexian Brothers' novitiate in Gresham, Wis. He warned force may be used "if all else fails." Col. Hugh Simonson said "We've tried several things; several things didn't work," he said. "We have many more things to try. We will exhaust every possible means of getting the occupants out of the abbey short of injuring anyone, short of killing anyone, short of destroying any property."

'Radicalism' sparked CIA moves: Helms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former CIA Director Richard Helms said Thursday the country's "dramatic upsurge of extreme radicalism" during the late 1950s and early 1960s was the reason the agency became involved in domestic intelligence activities.

In a prepared four-page statement, his first extensive public comment since the furor over CIA domestic espionage activities erupted last month, Helms said he was "indignant at the irresponsible attacks" that have been made on intelligence gathering.

He said if the attacks are allowed "to pass unchallenged, they could seriously damage the interests of the United States."

Earlier, the current CIA director, William E. Colby, outlined to Congress for the second consecutive day a series of activities conducted by the agency, but asked for an understanding that some crucial operations require continuing secrecy.

Helms, who headed the CIA during the period that it began domestic activities, staunchly defended himself:

"I was and remain proud of my work there, culminating in my 6½ years as director. I believed in the importance to the nation of tne function that the agency served. I still do: without regrets, without qualms, without apology."

Helms said that in normal times few Americans would ever "come within the purview of our foreign intelligence operations.

"Until the recent past, such involvements were rare occurrences. Then in the late 1950s, and early 1960s came the sudden and quite dramatic upsurge of extreme radicalism in this country and abroad, an uprush of violence against authority and institution, and the advocacy of violent change in our system of government.

"By and in itself, this violence, this dissent, this radicalism were of no direct concern to the Central Intelligence Agency. It became so only in the degree that the trouble was inspired by, or coordinated with, or funded by, anti-American subversion mechanisms abroad."

House Dems oust 2 chairmen

Patman, Hays still fighting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Liberal House Democrats, in defiance of parliamentary traditions and their own leadership's recommendations, ousted two powerful committee chairmen Tuesday but gave two others a fighting chance to retain seats believed lost.

The Democrats voted in caucus to depose W. R. "Bob" Poage of Agriculture and F. Edward Hebert of Armed Services. The Steering and Policy Committee had recommended that both retain their chairmanships, and a Hebert aide promptly suggested the fight might be carried to the full House.

In a long afternoon of secret balloting, the Democrats gave a new lease on life to 81-year-old House Dean Wright Patman of the Banking Committee and feisty Wayne Hays of the House Administration Committee, both of whom had been dumped by the steering committee.

The full caucus defeated the steering committee's recommendations for replacements: Henry Reuss of Banking and Frank Thompson of Administration.

House rules require new recommendations within five days, and the committee is thought likely to agree on Patman and Hays after all. It has scheduled a meeting Friday morning.

The defeat of four steering committee recommendations by the caucus is unprecedented, and demonstrated that the incumbent liberals and freshmen were in full control.

They had met with and questioned all of the controversial chairmen this week before deciding their fates:

- Poage, a Texan starting his 40th year in the House and chairman since 1967, was bumped 144 to 141.
- Hebert, a Louisiana veteran of 34 years in the House and three years as chairman, was defeated 152 to 133.
- Patman, a Texan who entered the House in 1929 and assumed the banking chairmanship in 1963, was given a new chance at retaining the post when the Democrats rejected his recommended replacement, Reuss of Wisconsin, by 145 to 141.
- Hays, Ohioan first elected to Congress in 1948, got his chance to keep his chairmanship when the caucus defeated his proposed replacement, Thompson of New Jersey, by 176 to 109. Hays in any case would retain his post on the Campaign Financing Committee, which distributes campaign contributions to House members. Under House rules, when the steering committee's second nomination comes before the caucus, additional names can be offered from the floor.

Reuss promptly announced he will oppose Patman there, but Thompson said he will not run against Hays.

The full house must vote on party recommendations for the chairmanship, but in the past this vote has been purely a pro forma one.

'Explode' deadline in Mideast

Sadat gives Israel 3 months

by United Press International

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat Thursday gave Israel three months to make further withdrawals from occupied Egyptian, Syrian and Jordanian territory. Otherwise he said the Arabs, including the Palestinians, would "explode everything" when the Geneva Middle East peace conference resumes.

Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon, in Washington for talks with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, said Sadat's statement was "not too good" but that he hoped it was not the Egyptian leader's "last word."

Kissinger, who has been trying to negotiate a second stage Israeli withdrawal from Egypt's Sinai as part of his unilateral step-by-step approach to peace, opposes early resumption of the Geneva conference at which the Soviet Union would play a major role.

Sadat's warning came in an interview with the Beirut newspaper An Nahar as:

- Sen. Charles H. Percy, R.-Ill., ending a four-day visit to Cairo, warned of a "devastating" fifth Middle East war unless there is a breakthrough in peace negotiations soon. Percy told a news conference that in Cairo "as in the other Middle Eastern capitals that I've visited these past two weeks, there is almost a unanimous feeling that time is running out."
- Israeli troops battled Lebanese artillery and Palestinian guerrillas in southeast Lebanon for the fifth day. The Israeli military command said four guerrillas were killed at Kfar Chouba, a village one mile inside Lebanon which has been a major target for the Israeli attacks this week, while two Israeli soldiers were wounded. Lebanese military spokesmen said the Israelis suffered "heavy casualties" when Lebanese gunners shelled an armored column and the border settlement of Metulla.

Sadat said in the interview he has not received any new peace proposals from Israel via the United States.

"I will accept nothing less than an Israeli move on three fronts — and within three months," Sadat said. "This is a conclusive year because next year, 1976, is an election year in America.

"If nothing is accomplished soon, and very soon, we would then go to Geneva, all of us, including the Palestinians and explode everything there."

Ford accepts honorary chairmanship of USO

People

- Following in the tradition of every President since Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1941, the year in which the USO was organized, President Ford has accepted the post of honorary chairman for the service organization . . . The White House yesterday also confirmed that Ford has accepted an invitation from President Tito to visit Yugoslavia, possibly this spring.
- Commenting on the President's State of the Union address, singer Pearl Bailey had some advice for curing the nation's ills. "What this country needs is a goddarned enema, not just a cleansing!" Pearlie Mae is in Cincinnati, where she's appearing at a suburban nightclub.
- Nettled by reports that he is on his way out of the Cabinet, Treasury Secretay William E. Simon declared Thursday that he would not resign and was not, so far as he knew being fired.
- In Moscow, the mystery surrounding Soviet Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev deepened yesterday when he failed to meet visiting Australian Premier Gough Whitlam, now on an official visit to the U.S.S.R. There is speculation that Brezhnev is either too ill to confer with foreign visitors or politically no longer in a position to do so because of a shift in the Kremlin power setup.
- Thomas J. Maskill, the former Connecticut governor whose nomination by former President Nixon to be a Federal Appeals Judge was never acted upon by the last session of the Senate, has been renominated to the bench.
- An aide to Billy Graham disclosed Thursday that the evangelist had a nonmalignant tumor removed from his forehead Sunday at a Dallas hospital before leaving the country to vacation at an undisclosed location . . . and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, paralyzed from the waist down as the result of a 1972 assassination attempt, undergoes a medical checkup today, three days before he begins his third term.
- Injured last week when he fell 25 feet during a rehearsal for his circus act, French high wire artist Philippe Petit is out of a St. Petersburg, Fla., hospital and will perform again as soon as "he can get back into shape."
- Troy, Mich., may be able to boast of the nation's first mother-daughter combination in the current diet fad of losing weight by having jaws wired shut. Sherry Arndt, 17, decided to try the technique last August and has since shed 80 of her 248 pounds. Impressed, her mother, Mary, decided to give it a try last month and has dropped from 186 to 171. The team plans to continue paring off pounds through locked jaws.
- No more competition: Night club hypnotist Ronald Dante, 44, former husband of actress Lana Turner, was sentenced to from seven to 20 years in prison for trying to hire killers to assassinate a rival hypnotist.
- Comedienne Phyllis Diller has become the 1,605th celebrity name to be enshrined in a star in the "walk of fame" on Hollywood Boulevard. Her star falls between those of Ethel Barrymore and Wallace Beery.

A group of Russians on a tour of the U.S. deserved a break Wednesday at Hamburger U. and found they, too, could get back change from a ruble

by KAREN BLECHA

It was McDiculous — everyone sitting in a classroom talking about how many hamburgers would cover the equator and how many pickles fill a four-lane highway.

The interpreter mentioned "hamburger technology" and the Russians laughed. A McDonald's employe said all the pickles McDonald's used would cover a highway from here to San Francisco and back and they laughed again.

Eleven visiting journalists from the Soviet Union laughed a lot Wednesday as they toured Hamburger University in Elk Grove Village during a meeting of capitalism and communism over a sesame seed bun. One McDonald's man said the group asked to visit two places in the Chicago area. One was Northwestern University. The other: Hamburger U. That's not a surprising request when you remember the Russians invented the hamburger and that McDonald's has the only hamburger university in the world.

RUSSIA CREATED the hamburger in medieval times, the story goes. The Tartars ate it, scraping the raw meat off of a steak bone. Later German sailors picked it up and took it to Hamburg. Hence, the name. In the Soviet Union today, said one visitor, you can get a lunch of hamburger, french fries and a drink for 1 to 1½ rubles or $1 to $1.50.

Ken Clement, dean of H.U., gave the visitors who are on a tour of the U.S. sponsored by the U.S. Dept. of State and American Council of Young Political Leaders a quick look at the campus. They visited the recreation rooms where students play table tennis during lunch hour. They visited a classroom where intricate remote-control devices put training films and slides at a teacher's fingertips.

But they seemed unimpressed. Until Clement told them McDonald's produces every day about 2 million hamburgers — more than the population of Kiev. And that the company has made 15.5 billion burgers since it started.

"You mean," said one Soviet visitor through an interpreter, "if you strung out the hamburgers you could cover the equator several times?"

WHEN CLEMENT tried to explain hamburger technology, one visitor teased: "We couud then only compare the development of your company with space exploration."

When he took the group to the H.U. television studio where training films are made, one Soviet told him: "You Americans can't do anything without press coverage, can you?" "Not even with the hamburger," another piped in.

One journalist tried to compliement the dean.

"We've already become acquainted with your work. On our first day here in Washington, D.C., we stopped at your restaurant and our host had to go back in twice for more."

But his host added, "That was Roy Rogers."

THERE WERE some serious questions. One visitor asked Clement to show the group McDonald's entire financial picture including capital, salaries and the budget. Clement said he didn't have the information at his disposal but did tell them that an owner of a McDonald's makes $70,000 to $80,000 profit a year, that a manager makes $12,000 to $16,000 and that part-time employes get $2 to $3 an hour.

Then it was Clements' turn. "Would McDonald's be a good thing in Russia?" he asked and the Soviets said it would. A man from the McDonald's International Division told them: "Please invite us. We have to have an invitation from your country first."

It was time for lunch. Clement handed out picture postcards of McDonald's restaurants and a complimentary box of McDonaldland cookies before they climbed into the blue and yellow Big Mac bus to take them to eat. Where to? McDonald's, of course.

"SO THIS IS a hamburger university." Journalists from the Soviet Union touring the United States took a closer look at the hamburger Wednesday as they toured McDonald's Hamburger U. on Higgins Road in Elk Grove Village.

RECYCLING BINS in Buffalo Grove soon will be removed from the glass and paper reclamation center behind the municipal building. The village's environmental commission voted to close the center because of poor profits and the lack of manpower. Last year an estimated 118 tons of paper were brought to be recycled.

WRP 'leaning in that direction'

2 Wheeling parties pledge to reveal campaign finances

by JOE FRANZ

Two of the three political parties in Wheeling have pledged full disclosure of campaign finances for the April 15 municipal election while the third is "leaning in that direction."

The parties to pledge full disclosure are the Wheeling Community Party (COM-PAR) and the Wheeling Improvement Party (WHIP).

COM-PAR candidates are William Rogers and trustees John Koeppen, Albert Lang and Edward Berger. The WHIP slate consists of John Cole, Gilbert Monoson, Charles Kerr and Otis (Skip) Hedlund.

One of the village board candidates on the Wheeling Representative Party slate, the third party, said Thursday his group has not reached a decision on disclosure of campaign finances.

"WHAT THE PARTY will do is up to them and it wouldn't be fair for me to say," said WRP candidate Roger Powers. "This has not been decided, but I can say we are leaning toward complete financial disclosure."

Joining Powers on the WRP slate are Neil H. Brant, Kenneth R. Brady and Robert E. Clark.

The newly enacted Illinois Campaign Financing Act requires candidates to disclose total campaign contributions, but does not require them to reveal the sources of contributions under $1,000.

Trustee John Koeppen, a candidate on the COM-PAR slate, said his party's finances will be available for inspection and has offered to allow a member of the press to be financial chairman.

"Our finances will be completely open and you fellows (reporters) can look at them anytime you want," he said.

TRUSTEE Donald Jackson, chairman of WHIP, said his organization will make all information available, including donors' names, the amount given and how the money was spent. "We'll be happy to give a report of our finances at any time," he said.

Although the parties have not yet established budgets for the campaign, spokesmen said they will attempt to keep spending at a minimum.

"We are going to try to avoid an expensive campaign as well as trying to avoid getting a lot of money from one source," Powers said.

"I think it would be fair to say we're going to try to get a large number of small contributions," the WRP candidate said. "In fact, we are not going to accept large contributions from anybody because you then start getting told what to do."

The Wheeling Township Regular Democratic Organization has denied it is supporting WRP or any other local party, but several of its precinct captains recently circulated petitions for WRP.

MEMBERS OF WHIP and COM-PAR also said they are looking for small rather than large contributions.

"We want to get as broad a base of financial support as possible," said Sheila Schultz, a member of the WHIP campaign committee. "We'd like to get a lot of $5 and $10 contributions."

Koeppen said of COM-PAR, "We are looking for contributions from anyone, basically in small amounts. "We'll work on a budget and will accept any contributions as long as they are legal and there are no strings attached."

Jackson said WHIP's spending in the upcoming campaign probably will slightly exceed the $1,000 spent by the party in the 1973 election. Most of the money, he said, will be spent for campaign signs and posters, petitions, buttons and various coffees that will be hosted by WHIP members.

IN ADDITION to private contributions, WHIP is planning to conduct garage sales, salad lunches and other activities to raise money for the campaign. Jackson said WHIP also hopes to raise money by selling additional party memberships.

COM-PAR and WRP officials have said they are unsure how campaign money will be raised and have not decided in which areas funds will be spent.

"We haven't really looked into that," Koeppen said. "But I will say our spending will depend on how much money we are able to raise."

Rogers said of WRP, "I'll be very candid with you and say we haven't decided how we are going to raise the money. As far as how it will be spent, we'll have to set up priorities and then cost it out and see how far it will go."

United's chief sees higher fares if Ford plan adopted

The chairman of United Airlines has predicted a substantial increase in passenger fares and air freight rates if President Ford's proposed tax on crude oil imports is adopted.

Edward E. Carlson, head of the nation's largest air carrier, urged the President to drop the oil tax proposition and instead reduce the airline industry's jet fuel allocation to 95 per cent of 1972 volumes.

Carlson Wednesday sent a telegram to the President outlining his reasons for his concern. It read, in part:

". . . it appears that your program would result in sharply increased fuel costs for essential public air transportation. In turn, it would be necessary to increase passenger fares and freight rates substantially to compensate for the added fuel costs.

"This would be both highly inflationary and unrealistic in terms of current depressed business conditions. Certificated airlines carry 75 per cent of all common carrier intercity passengers, yet use only 7 per cent of petroleum products.

"United Airlines is ready and anxious to assist you in reducing dependence on foreign crude oil. In that spirit United proposes an industry fuel allocation reduction to 95 per cent of 1972 volumes as an alternative to increased price levels."

Pikarsky urges suburbs to 'act as one'

Milton Pikarsky, chairman-elect of the Regional Transportation Authority, challenged officials of the Northwest suburbs to act together to obtain transportation improvements in the coming years.

Speaking Wednesday at the annual dinner meeting of the Northwest Municipal Conference, Pikarsky said the Northwest suburbs could carry much more weight if their voices were combined and their desires expressed through the conference. "If the Northwest Municipal Conference coalesces on needs, they will take priority over individual municipalities," Pikarksy said.

His comments followed statements by outgoing conference president Virginia Hayter, village president of Hoffman Estates, and incoming president, Charles Zettek, president of Elk Grove Village, that the conference has not achieved as much as it should.

"I haven't been happy, because we can't point to a great deal of accomplishment," Zettek said. He has been a supporter of a plan to hire a full-time staff person to handle affairs of the conference, but several communities have resisted because of the cost.

Charles Zettek

THE ISSUE HAS been argued for more than a year, but a unanimous vote is required before the full-time staff executive or secretary could be hired. Each community would be expected to contribute an equal share of the cost, which could run as high as $1,000 per community. The amount would be diminished the first year by a $12,000 surplus from a transportation study the conference commissioned a year ago.

Warning that some type of cohesive force is needed among the conference communities, Mrs. Hayter said, "We had better get good at our jobs or we're going to be replaced." She said she is disappointed that the full-time staff post was not established during her year as conference president. "We did act as a forum for this past year," she said.

Mrs. Hayter credited the conference with discussing housing, endorsing a regionwide water quality resolution naming the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission as coordinator, establishing a federal highway assistance priority list, and studying the Cook County auto emissions control plan, which could have cost $3 million if it had been initiated.

The conference is composed of 16 Northwest suburban communities.

Obituaries

Donna M. Courtney

Miss Donna Marie Courtney, 19, a resident of Hoffman Estates for 12 years; a 1973 graduate from Conant High School in Hoffman Estates, and a student at Harper College, died suddenly Wednesday in Vail, Colo., while there on a ski trip with the Harper College Ski Club.

Visitation is today from 6 to 9 p.m. in Ahlgrim and Sons Funeral Home, 330 W. Golf Rd., Schaumburg.

She is survived by her parents, Walter and Barbara Courtney, and grandparents, Paul and Marian Ward of Davenport, Iowa.

Funeral service will be at 10 a.m. Saturday in the funeral home. Officiating will be the Rev. James Houff of Our Saviour United Methodist Church, Hoffman Estates. Burial will be in Oakdale Cemetery, Davenport, Iowa.

Alma Brueggeman

Miss Alma Brueggeman, 89, died Wednesday in the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged, Arlington Heights, where she had been a resident for nine years. She was born May 5, 1885, in Illinois. Prior to retirement she was a beautician and was the owner of a beauty shop.

Visitation is today from 4 to 9 p.m. in the chapel of the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged, 800 W. Oakton St., Arlington Heights, and where a funeral service will be at 10 a.m. Saturday. The Rev. Gerhard Barthel will officiate. Burial will be in Zion Lutheran Cemetery, Matteson, Ill., with the Rev. Fred W. Van officiating at the committal service.

She is survived by serveral nieces and nephews.

Haire Funeral Home, Northwest Highway and Vail Avenue, Arlington Heights, is in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Sam Arena

A funeral Mass of the Resurrection for Sam Arena was offered Thursday morning in Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Church, Arlington Heights. Entombment was in Queen of Heaven Mausoleum, Hillside.

Mr. Arena, 57, of Niles, a partner in the Plumb Grove News Agency in Palatine, was pronounced dead on arrival Monday at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, after an apparent heart attack while driving his car.

Surviving are his widow, Rose, nee Pantaleo; a son, Raymond (Joan); one grandson, Christopher; father, Bruno Arena; four brothers, Joseph (Madeline), Anthony (Josephine), Ernest and Rudolph (Genevieve), and three sisters, Mrs. Victoria (Joseph) DeMarco, Mrs. Yolanda (Onno) Buseman and Mrs. Tracey (Henry) Banzer. He was preceded in death by his mother, Alice Arena, and a brother, Raymond.

Montclair Funeral Home, Chicago, was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Hayter heads Salvation Army unit

Virginia Hayter, Hoffman Estates village president, has been elected chairman of the advisory council of The Salvation Army Community Counseling Center.

A council member since last year, Mrs. Hayter succeeds Charles E. Hayes of Arlington Heights, who served as chairman since 1971 and a member since 1968.

Newly elected as a regular member was State Rep. Virginia Macdonald, R-Arlington Heights.

Members reelected in addition to Mrs. Hayter and Hayes were Albert E. Smedley, Mt. Prospect; Steven G. Novick, the Rev. Edwin I. Stevens and James F. Vesely, Arlington Heights; Wilson Wadsworth, Palatine, and Jean Branding, Des Plaines.

Ex-officio members on the council are Margaret Lisinski, director of the Community Counseling Center, and three representatives of The Salvation Army: Capt. Gary Herndon, director of Greater Chicago Social Welfare Services; Ikuo Yamaguchi, director of famiy services, and Edward Locock, direcor of Unified Command public relations.

The Community Counseling Center is a Salvation Army family-service agency for the townships of Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg as well as the City of Des Plaines.

During 1974, it served more than 670 families fron headquarters at 1797 Oakton St., Des Plaines, and branch offices in Arlington Heights, Palatine and Schaumburg.

The advisory council is an information and education group that provides liaison and communication with all communities included in the agency's service area.

Ford outlines sound program

President Gerald Ford Wednesday gave the nation a clear and coordinated program for pulling us out of the deepening economic recession. Congress should move quickly to approve this plan, for it is this nation's most effective tool yet for restoring economic equilibrium.

The economic thrust of the economic-energy-inflation message is a $12 billion tax rebate plan which will return up to $1,000 to every American who pays federal income tax (and smaller amounts to those of us who pay no tax). This cash, reinvested in the American economy, will produce more jobs and will thus help to slow the present recession.

In addition, Ford is offering the business community $4 billion worth of investment tax credit, which is another way of restoring the American economy.

The economic approach is similar to that offered this week by the Congressional Democrats, who want to pass a large-scale tax cut to uplift the economy. But there's more of a strictly political flavor to the Democrats' plan, in its emphasis on benefits for low and middle-income families. We believe Ford's plan to be more beneficial for the entire economy.

In President Ford's energy plan, the bad news is that American families are going to have to pay up to $250 a year for reduced dependence on foreign fuel and for a future reduced rate of inflation. Ford's proposal is a $30 billion tax program on fuel; the income obtained from it will be plowed back into our economy.

In part, we will pay for this through a 10 cent increase in the cost of a gallon of gasoline, but that money will be funneled back into the economy through the federal government. Ford has also promised a windfall profits tax on oil companies, which should help prevent a recurrence of last year's deplorable excessive profits for private gasoline producers.

Inflation can be eased, under this plan, by reducing federal spending and an increased reliance on domestic energy sources. We're especially pleased that Ford has pledged no new federal spending (except for energy development), for reduced federal spending is absolutely essential in trimming inflation. Congressional Republicans could help Ford by pledging to support his vetoes over unwanted Congressional spending.

There are elements of Ford's plan that disturb us. He's proposing a reduction of anti-pollution controls on cars and a further incursion into previously off-limits oil drilling areas in and near the U.S. We believe these steps to be undesirable for the ecological welfare of the nation.

Also, we've seen no provisions for the development of mass transit as an alternative to wasteful gasoline consumption. It's a point that Ford and his advisers should consider.

Congress, however, should act immediately to approve the bulk of this plan; on balance it's the kind of proposal we have waited to see for months from Gerald Ford. If Congress approves it by April 1, the slumping economy can get that needed boost of rebate checks by May.

We view Ford's program as a full-scale attempt to prevent the current recession from becoming something much worse. For the sake of the nation, his plan demands immediate action from Congress; delays will only further damage our already beleagured economy.

Voting is not enough

It isn't enough for us to vote to elect our public officials once a year; we are also responsible in making certain that those men and women steer our government away from corruption.

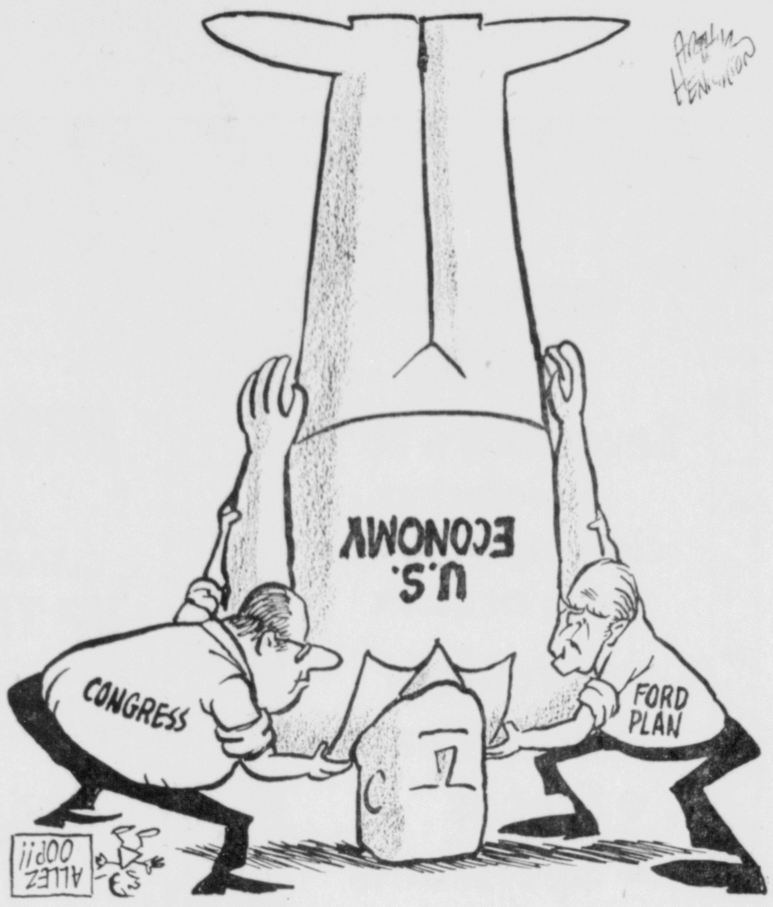
It's an old message, which has been urged upon us many, many times before — and it received renewed attention recently at Harper College during a seminar on "Ferreting out Corruption."

One of the participants — Anton Valukas, chief of the special investigation division for U.S. Attorney James Thompson — is especially concerned about suburban corruption. He urged citizens to be especially wary of the relationship between public officials and developers:

"It takes a lot of will power to say no. If the citizens aren't looking down the officials' necks, it can get pretty easy to get cozy with a developer."

He mentioned three areas — zoning, liquor licenses and "items which are purchased every year" — as possible corruption sources. A local official, Mayor Virginia Hayter of Hoffman Estates, said trouble can be spotted when "you can't find anything that makes any sense." It almost seems, though, that Valukas, Mrs. Hayter and the seminar's other participants are whistling in the dark, because there's precious little interest in government today in the Northwest suburbs. Last year's indictments and convictions of past Hoffman Estates and Wheeling officials is a sad testament to the length of time it takes to ferret out official corruption.

Nevertheless, it still only takes one aroused and vigilant citizen to begin to piece together official corruption, and that one citizen can be any one of us. But that kind of surveillance will only happen when each of us realize that we must play an active role in keeping our government honest in the service of its citizens.

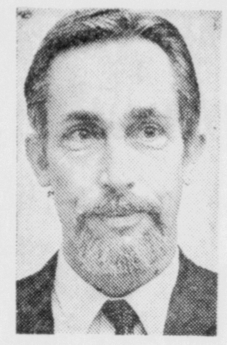


Ready? Let's turn it around!

The lighter side

World could end in mighty whoosh

by DICK WEST



Dick West

Disaster movies are very big this season. Two in particular, "The Towering Inferno" and "Earthquake," have been drawing huge crowds.

I wouldn't try to analyze why so many people enjoy films with victims trapped in blazing skyscrapers or the ruins of shattered cities.

We may be certain, however, that even now other producers are casting about for catastrophies with strong entertainment values.

ONE IDEA occurred to me — passengers trapped in an ocean liner that capsizes in a gigantic wave. But I decided that type of disaster might be too unrealistic for the average movie-goer.

So I'm betting the next smash calamity flick will be along the lines suggested in a letter I received from Lester Shirley of Cromberg, Calif.

Watch for "Aerosol Deluge," coming soon to your neighborhood theater.

According to recently published reports, pressurized cans found in most homes are potentially explosive under certain conditions.

THE PREMISE of this film is that some day all the spray cans in a large American city will explode simultaneously.

We know from watching shaving cream commercials that the cans are capable of releasing immense gobs of foam.

Under ordinary circumstances, this potential is no threat to life and limb because it is never fully realized. Not everyone shaves at the same time, and one shaver only squirts out enough to cover his own beard.

BUT SUPPOSE these caged mountains of goop all emerged in one big eruption. And suppose they were joined by the contents of thousands of cans of instant non-dairy dessert topping.

Which were then combined with millions of cans of oven cleaner, spot removers, bug killers, hair fixatives, paints and varnishes, air fresheners, cheese spreads, doggy deodorants, underarm anti-perspirants and myriad other sprays too numerous to enumerate.

It doesn't take much imagination to recognize that here we have the makings of a first class disaster and one helluva motion picture.

THE VISUAL effects should be positively staggering. Entire neighborhoods engulfed in foaming rust inhibitors . . . Suburbanites frantically fleeing before a tidal wave of depressurized laundry starch . . . Socko!

Plus heroism and romance, Burt Reynolds rescuing Fanne Foxe from sudden mummification in spray wax build-up.

"Aerosol Deluge" should be box office dynamite, folks. And apocalyptic, too.

How will the world end? Not with a bang, and not with a whimper, but with a mighty whoosh.

Cat lover distressed by night-roamers

Fence post
letters to the editor

Dear Feline Owners of Arlington Heights:

Has your well loved and well cared for cat failed to return to the warm and secure surroundings of its happy home this morning after its evening of outdoor ventures: If so, try looking around Rand Road between Arlington Heights Road and Dundee Road for your child's favorite pet. For on my way to work this morning, I noticed three roaming wonders of various sizes and colors — all dead.

As a pet owner myself, I become very upset at the thought of an innocent pet, any pet, being killed because its owner did not have enough common sense to take proper care of him. The belief that a cat must be allowed to "roam" during the late evening and early hours of the morning is an old wive's tale and nothing more. Our three-year-old "kitten" is a perfect example. She is a beautifully clean, even-tempered, extremely healthy and playful calico who is out-of-doors only long enough for us to escort her to and from the veterinarian for her yearly shots and check-up. (Which incidentally, is much less expensive than sewing up a stomach or setting a broken leg, hip or tail.)

Strangely enough, it also seems that indoor cats do not have the nervous habit of lurking in corners and sneaking around furniture. After all, who worries about somebody driving a car through the family room?

So all of you cat and other pet owners, please take heed and keep your felines indoors. After all, you don't put your dog or bird "out for the night." Besides, who wants the task of telling a four-year-old that his favorite pet has been killed by a car or decided to look for a new home? Perhaps one that is safe and warm.

Save papers—help paramedics

We are a small group of five couples in Buffalo Grove who have formed an organization called H.E.L.P.S. (Help Ensure Lasting Paramedic Service). On the first Saturday of each month we hold a paper drive at the Ranch Mart Shopping Center (Dundee and Buffalo Grove Roads). On the first drive held on December 7, we made $89 which was sent directly to the paramedics.

Unfortunately at this particular time the price of paper is at an all-time low price so we desperately need a very large volume of paper to make any money. We are asking a favor of each family, and that is to save all papers for us and drop them off at the Ranch Mart Shopping Center the first Saturday of each month. If everyone getting any type of paper would do this, we would be assured of a huge success each month. Just think what $90 or $100 each month can amount to in a year's time. Right now the paramedics are getting another ambulance and you could help to pay for this life saving vehicle.

We would like to especially thank the Buffalo Grove Herald for all the publicity they have given us. They have been very generous printing many articles about the paper drive. Our most sincere thank you to John Maes and the Buffalo Grove Herald for their continuing support.

Let's make the February paper drive the most successful ever.

Grateful for concern

On behalf of my sister, Debra Koblenz, I would like to express my deep gratitude to the individuals who called the paramedics and the concerned bystanders who lent their outer coats as warmth for my sister who was struck by a Chicago and North Western train on Tuesday, Dec. 24. Their concern was very moving.

Also, my appreciation to the Arlington Heights paramedics and the police officer who drove my brother and me to the hospital. Your valuable assistance cannot go unmentioned.

Comforting to know that help is there

I wish to thank the telephone company operator for her excellent service on the morning of Jan. 8, when my husband had a heart attack in the bathroom.

I had tried to get the doctor but could not. The fire department emergency group came out quickly and did everything they could for my husband and I wish to thank them and the Hoffman Estates police who stayed with us (my mother and me) through the night.

My husband served in World War II in Patton's army during the Battle of the Bulge. Bernie Penczek was employed with American Airlines for 26 years.

It is comforting to know that none of us have to withstand a crisis when the telephone company, fire department and police department are there to help.

Thank you and God bless you.

Report from Energy, Ill.:

WIN with 15-cent burgers

by SAMUEL O. HANCOCK

ENERGY, Ill. — President Ford didn't have to tell John "Sollie" Nesler to "Whip Inflation Now."

Fifteen cents will get you a hamburger with mustard, onion and pickle at Nesler's Polar Whip restaurant in this village south of Herrin, deep in Southern Illinois.

Also, a double hamburger at the Polar Whip costs 20 cents, a cheeseburger goes for 25 cents and a double cheeseburger for 30. Fish, barbecue and ham sandwiches sell for 50 cents.

Nesler has been battling prices to a fare-thee-well since the Great Depression days. Nowadays, he sometimes tells customers, "I think I'm fighting a losing battle."

NESLER, 65, has spent 38 years in the 'burger business, most of them around Herrin. "I depend on volume," he said. "When times get tough and people are laid off, I don't have to sweat like the guys who sell hamburgers for 60 or 70 cents. Besides, I don't like to stand around looking out the window half the time."

Nesler readily admits his 'burger is a mixture of ground beef and cereal.

"The customer knows it, but he's getting a tasty sandwich," he said. "And it's the only chance for some large families to eat out."

HE SAID IT is not uncommon for some families to order 20 to 25 at a time and a Herrin high school once ordered 300.

"It stands to reason you can't sell an all-beef hamburger for 15 cents with hamburger going for 70 cents a pound," Nesler said. "I remember back in the depression days when you could buy three pounds of ground meat for a quarter."

Nesler and his late brother-in-law owned Wimpy's Place in Herrin in 1931, but Nesler sold out when he entered the service in 1943. When he got out two years later, he tried other work, "but I always had an urge to go back selling hamburgers."

He started in again in 1949, bought the Energy property as a sideline, put in a miniature golf course with his son in charge, and it made enough to put the youth through college. Nesler brought his hamburgers to Energy six years ago.

"I own the property and my overhead is low," he said. "My wife, Helen, helped me for years until her health got bad." Mrs. Nell McSpadden has cooked for him about 16 years now. Nesler takes the orders and handles the cash register.

"When prices went up, I raised barbecues from 45 to 50 cents to keep from raising my hamburger prices," Nesler said. "I've always believed in low prices."

NESLER HELD the line on 10-cent hamburgers from 1949 until 1974, then upped them a nickel.

He is slowing down some these days and is open each day only as long as his buns hold out. How many buns does he order? "That's a business secret," he said.

What is Nesler's recipe for whipping inflation?

"Lower prices and lower wages, honesty, and thinking about your fellow man."

PRESIDENT FORD didn't have to tell John "Sollie" Nesler to fight inflation —he's been battling prices since the Great Depression. Fifteen cents will get you a hamburger with mustard, onion and pickle at his cafe.

The almanac

Today is Friday, Jan. 17, the 17th day of 1975 with 348 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first phase.

The morning stars are Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Capricorn.

American statesman, scientist and author Benjamin Franklin was born Jan. 17, 1827.

On this day in history:

- In 1806, the first baby was born in the White House. He was the son of Thomas and Martha Randolph and the grandson of President Thomas Jefferson.
- In 1917, the United States bought 50 of the Virgin Islands in the West Indies from Denmark for $25 million, and they remain a U.S. territory. The other 50 Virgin Islands belong to or are associated with Britain.
- In 1950, nine bandits staged a $1.5 million robbery of a Brink's armored car in Boston.
- In 1974, Egypt and Israel reached agreement on separating their forces along the Suez Canal and limiting arms.

A thought for the day: Benjamin Franklin said, "Doth thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of."

Senate may lose liberal tag to House

by CLAY F. RICHARDS

A news analysis

WASHINGTON — The new House of Representatives is filled with aggressive, reform-minded newcomers who could claim for the House the Senate's traditional role as the liberal leader in Congress.

For years, but most dramatically in the 1960s, the Senate has led the way in passage of civil rights and other landmark domestic legislation and opposition to U.S. involvement in Vietnam. But that trailblazing liberal role might well shift to the House this year.

With 73 new members, the 435-member House has taken a considerable swing to the left. The Senate, which was pretty liberal to begin with, has stayed just about the same.

CONGRESS WILL get an early chance to prove just how liberal it really is. Among the first bills slated for action are measures approved by the old 93rd Congress and vetoed by President Ford — including regulation of strip mining and health revenue sharing.

The margin of votes on these measures will provide some indication how close the heavily Democratic 94th Congress comes to being "veto-proof," although no one expects every Democrat to vote the same way on every issue.

The legislation Congress produces this year also will be important as a likely foundation for the Democrats' presidential election platform in 1976. As it looks now, the party's candidate may well be a member of the new Congress.

The November election saw a breakup in the House coalition of about 60 conservative Democrats and 187 Republicans that impeded liberal legislation in the last Congress. Now there are only 144 Republicans and about 40 Southern Democrats, and the liberals are in control.

DEMOCRATS INCREASED their Senate strength, from 58 to 61 out of 100 members, but the Senate is only slightly more liberal than last year. The switches were often a matter of conservative Democrat replacing a Republican.

House Democrats signaled their lust for reform last month when, with new members voting and retirees barred, they rammed through the most comprehensive overhaul of that chamber's parliamentary procedures in a quarter-century.

The Ways and Means Committee was stripped of its power to appoint members of other committees, a job taken over by the liberal-dominated House Democratic caucus. Ways and Means was expanded to include more liberals.

Reform efforts were expected to fare less well in the Senate.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., is prepared to challenge the cloture rule that requires a two-thirds vote to halt a filibuster, but his move to reduce the needed majority to 60 per cent faces expected death by filibuster under the old rule.

FLORIDA'S TWO SENATORS, Lawton Chiles and freshman Richard Stone, will urge the Senate to approve a proposed "sunshine law" which would open all committee sessions to the press and public. Stone says he will refuse to attend any closed sessions.

Much of the steam behind the liberal movement in the Senate will come from the new generation of Democratic committee chairmen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut will succeed retiring Sam J. Ervin of North Carolina, a conservative on nearly everything but Watergate, as chairman of Government Operations.

William Proxmire of Wisconsin is taking charge of the Banking Committee from John Sparkman of Alabama, who will become chairman of Foreign Relations. But Sparkman likely will be more conservative than J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, who suffered a primary election defeat.

The posture of Congress doubtless will be influenced by senior Democrats seeking their party's presidential nomination next year, notably Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, who represent the moderate-to-conservative wing of the party.

Other, more liberal Democrats such as Frank Church of Idaho and Birch Bayh of Indiana could become contenders before the year is out. Liberal Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona is the only House member who has announced his candidacy for President.

Bensinger to head crime-victims panel

Illinois briefs

Peter B. Bensinger, the 38-year-old descendant of the founders of the Brunswick Corp. and recent loser in the race for Cook County sheriff, Thursday emerged as a $2,000-a-month administrator of the state's crime victims compensation division.

His appointment was announced by Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott, who said he was "extremely pleased to obtain the services of (Bensinger) who has such broad experience and a record of great achievement in the field of criminal justice."

Bensinger's appointment, effective immediately, paves the way for victims of crimes to get quicker service, Scott said. The division reimburses crime victims for the effects of assaults and other attacks on them by criminals.

Bensinger formerly served in several capacities in state government, including chairman of the Illinois Youth Commission and director of the Chicago Crime Commission.

'Balance' new word for bias

"They don't put up signs that order blacks to the back of the bus — they just arrange it so there aren't any seats up front when a black man boards it."

Speaking was Stanley S. Scott, President Gerald R. Ford's specialist on minority affairs, who Thursday told the Chicago Headline Club: "Jim Crow is dead, but he left a lot of legatees and they are far more subtle than the old man."

Scott was updating the plight of the black minority as it relates to 1975. He said "balance" is a new word for discrimination. "The x-factor in too many hiring decisions," he said, "is not the ability of the black applicant, but the quota of blacks on the payroll. The black community isn't looking for quota participation. Quotas don't work in politics and they certainly don't work in socioeconomics."

$300,000 bonanza for them

Betty Lindsey broke into tears, Bernard Lindsey buried his face in the collar of his wife's coat, and they walked hand-in-hand to the front of the Skokie Public Library stage to receive $300,000 as the latest winners in the Illinois Lottery's Bonanza drawing Thursday.

When they calmed down from their excitement, the couple from Milan, Ill., made mental plans to pack up and move to Vero Beach, Fla. "As soon as we can make arrangements we'll move," said Lindsey. "We wanted to do this for a long time and this sure makes it easier."

The $50,000 winner was Mary J. Reuter, a housewife from Elgin.

Rock Island Line periled

The Rock Island Line faces the scrap heap or sale to the highest bidder unless the federal government comes through with a $100 million loan, John W. Ingram, railroad president, said Thursday.

"The question is whether the government wants to see the northeast rail crisis extended to Denver and Tucumcari, N.M.," Ingram said.

Ingram insisted the railroad needs the full $100 million or face cutting back operations and even going out of business. He said there has been no response as yet from the newly established U.S. Railway Assn., which is considering the loan application.

The line has been running trains at a deficit for eight years. Last year the railroad lost a record $22 million.

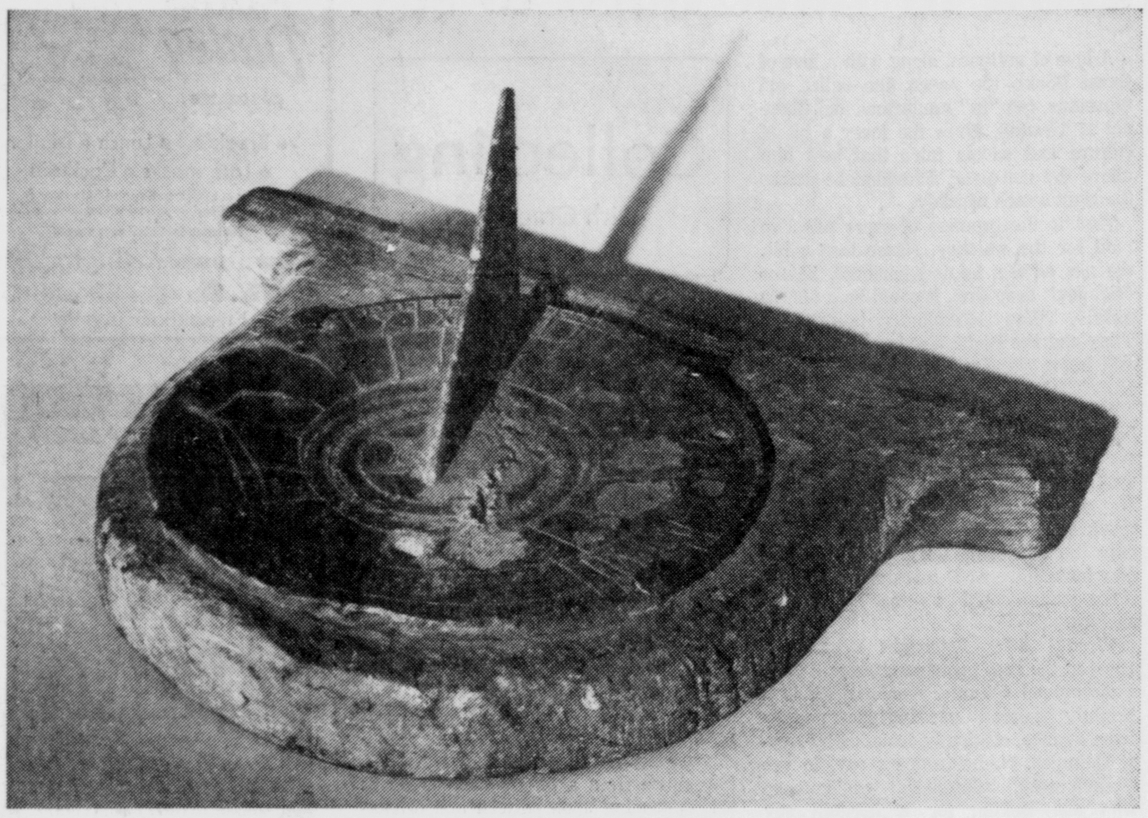
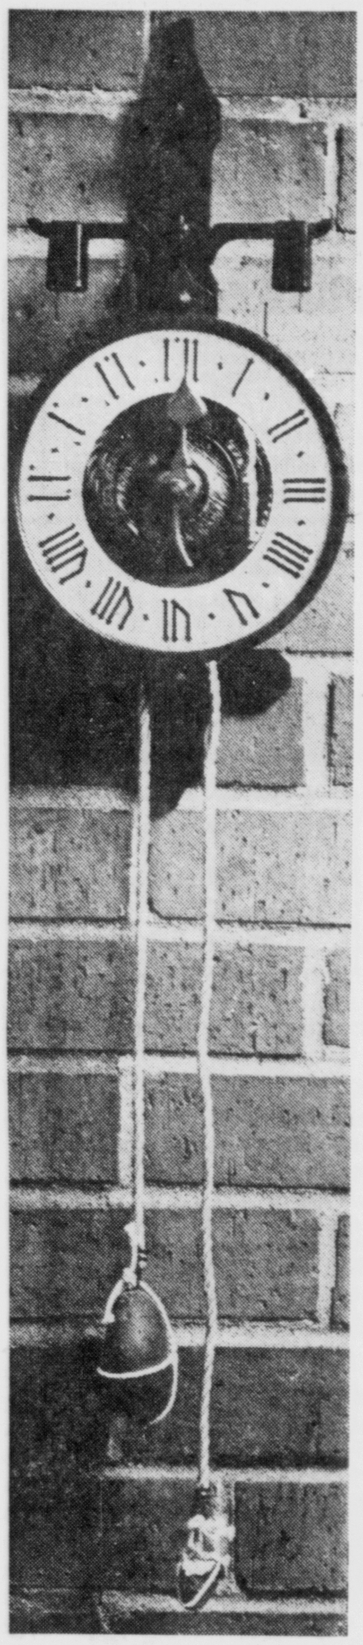
GOLD AND ENAMEL French Restoration pistol watch was made for nothing more lethal than capturing hearts, for when the trigger is pressed, a lotus flower springs from the barrel and a spray of perfume emitted.



BEFORE THE INVENTION of mechanical clocks, men told time by sundials, water clocks and hour glasses. This pewter sundial mounted on a wooden bracket intended to be attached to a windowsill, dates to 1750-1775, and is of New England origin. Corrosion has badly damaged the pewter. Sundials were called scarce 15 years ago.



INEXPENSIVE plastic reproduction is modeled after the wooden wheel clock invented in the 13th century. It has only one hand.

Timepieces a favored collectible

by GRACE CAROLYN DAHLBERG

Before the invention of clocks and watches, all the employes down at the old oxen yoke factory or water jug works probably had to watch the sundial, which could get pretty boring on a cloudy day. Hour glasses were used to tell time, as was the water clock, or clepsydra, by the end of the second century, but it took man another thousand years or so to come up with the idea of a mechanical clock.

Watches, or portable timepieces, date from about 1500 and were originally made in Germany. They were at first simply small clocks enclosed in boxes, but were heavy and clumsy to carry in a pocket. The necessary miniaturization evolved slowly in the hands of skilled craftsmen, for watches were made by hand for centuries. It was not until about 1850 that the first factory for watchmaking opened in Hartford, Conn., bringing watches within the price range of others than the very rich.

TO THE VICTORIAN lady or gentleman, a lapel or pocket watch was a necessary fillip to the costume. Men's watches tended to be large and ornate, known as the "turnip" because of the shape, with gold and silver embossing and heavy gold chains decorated with lodge or fraternity pins. Ladies' watches were smaller and daintier, usually about an inch and a quarter in diameter, and these hung from a delicate chain about the neck or were pinned to the bodice.

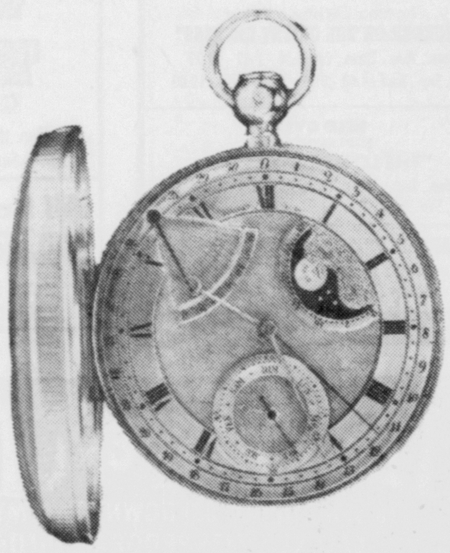
Slides, those ingenious little devices for adjusting the long double chains which held ladies' watches, are almost as popular as the watches now in antiques circles. Slides may be set with precious jewels, and a collection of these little gadgets make a charming (and expensive) bracelet.

With watches, the unusual is frequently the most desirable. Watches with moving figures on the face of the dial, those that play music, have alarms, wind with a key, or those which have elaborate gold cases with miniature paintings inside (including artus erotica) or those which are shaped into fanciful designs are in great demand.

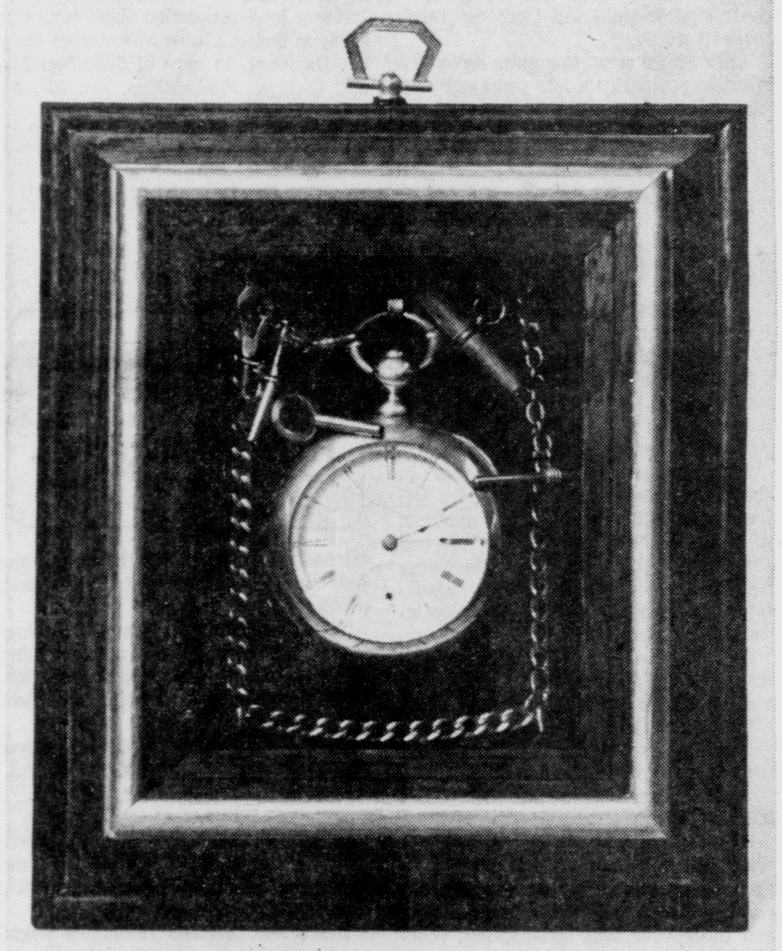
AN EXTRAORDINARY assemblage of such unusual watches will be shown to the public at the new headquarters of the Rolex Watch Co., starting now, and by appointment only. More than 100 antique timepieces, representing four centuries of the watchmakers art, will be shown in chronologic sequence. Admission tickets may be obtained by writing Rolex Watch U.S.A. Inc., 665 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. Or if you are in New York, you may call for an appointment, 758-7700 (area code 212).

Like oysters and champagne, antique watches are an acquired taste, but one had better have the means to indulge the taste if he is interested in watches such as those shown.

WORTH A pretty penny, French Empire watch with musical movement, c. 1810-1820, is highlighted by 750 pearls.



SO-CALLED PERPETUELLE, French Empire self-winding watch by A. L. Breguet of Paris, c. 1820, has 31-day calendar and shows phases of the moon.



A FAMILY heirloom, this Elgin pocket watch with key is 127 years old. Though it no longer tells time, the old timepiece is still prominent, framed and hung on the wall.

George Burns reflects on the humor of Jack Benny

by DICK KLEINER

It was the day after they buried Jack Benny. George Burns, his friend of more than a half-century, had broken down when he tried to deliver a eulogy at the funeral services.

But now he felt like talking. It wasn't easy, still. Tears came softly to his eyes and his naturally creaky voice broke from time to time. But still there seemed to be almost a compulsion to speak of his — and our — great friend.

Burns had gone to his office that morning as usual. He seemed to feel the need to resume his ordinary routine. The office was cold. Burns sat in his overcoat, clutching it around him and shivering. He lit up an enormous cigar.

AT FIRST, we talked of other things. He has a new record album out, a two-record set selling for $25 that he hopes will become a collector's item. It was recorded when he made a one-man concert appearance at the Schubert Theater in Hollywood.

But the subject both of us wanted to discuss — Jack Benny — was always there. When the talk veered around to the current state of comedy, Burns plunged in.

"Good, honest jokes live forever," he said, exhaling a fogbank of blue smoke. "Look at Jack Benny. Nobody knew how great he was until he passed away. I knew him for 55 years but even I didn't know how great he was until he was gone."

He wiped a tear away from his eye.

"THERE WAS something magic about Jack. Everything he created — the old Maxwell car, the 'stingy' jokes, 'Jell-o Again,' — all that lived for all of us as though it were real.

"The pauses. The look. The nerve he had when he used to go next door to the Colmans to borrow a cup of sugar.

"Even if he told a bad joke, he made it work for him. I remember one show when he told a bad joke and he said it couldn't be a bad joke because a great writer, Norman Krasna, had written it. So he told it again. And the next week he repeated the whole thing and within a few weeks, he had a whole thing going about that bad joke.

"As Bob Hope said at the funeral, when Jack Benny got on the stage, he owned it — and he did."

Another pause. Another tear. Another big drag on the cigar, perhaps for reasons of security.

"WHEN I MET him, he was already a great monologist. His opening joke was this. He'd come out holding his violin and he'd just stand there. A long pause. Already he was a master of the long pause. Then he'd say to the orchestra leader, 'How is the show up to now?' And the orchestra would say 'Fine.' 'Well,' Jack would say, 'I'll stop that.' "

Another puff.

"He was a gentle man. And his humor was as gentle as he was.

"He used to use his violin the way I use this cigar — as a prop, as a kind of comedian's security blanket. But he tried to get rid of it. He wanted to be able to stand up on the stage without it. I remember the first time he tried to go on without it. It was in Schenectady, New York. He told two jokes. Nobody laughed. So he quick borrowed a violin from the orchestra and he was all right after that.

IT'S MY SECURITY says George Burns of his famed cigar — as Jack Benny's violin was for him according to Burns.

"HE NEVER SAID a mean thing. Jack's idea of being mean was this. Once we saw a certain comic work. I asked him what he thought of the comic. Jack said, 'Well, he's great but I just can't laugh at him.'

"Without Jack Benny, the show will go on, but there will be a big hole in it. It just won't be as good. There's one good thing, though — Jack Benny will stay alive as long as any of us live."

That was the eulogy George Burns was too choked up to deliver at the funeral. It all spilled out of him, as though he had to say it.

Burns himself — he'll be 79 this month — is in good health. He takes pretty good care of himself.

HE DOESN'T work very hard any more. He says he will never retire, but he's taking it easier. He still does some TV guest shots and speaks at a lot of dinners and he's in his office every day.

But his working day, ordinarily is brief — from 10:30 a.m. until noon. Then he goes over to the Hillcrest Country Club, has lunch and plays bridge for a couple of hours every afternoon.

"Then I go home and have a nap," he says.

Even at such a tragic time, the Burns humor cannot help but sneak out. We were talking about young comedians.

"WHAT DO YOU mean by 'young?' To me at my age, Don Rickles is a kid; Milton Berle is a juvenile and Shecky Green is just getting started."

He says he does some talk shows, now and then, and he likes doing them "because they're easy to do — I can do them sitting down."

But the flashes of humor were fewer than usual, understandably. The death of Jack Benny was too close, too real.

Which collectibles could grow in value hard to say

Collecting with Grace Carolyn

A love of antiques, along with a love of Great Books, the opera, the ballet, art museums, the "in" magazines and Channel 11 viewing, gives the lover a bit of culture and savoir faire that sets him above the non-lover. Provided he drinks the right scotch whiskey.

That is the premise of some ads I've read for the whiskey. Name-drop a bit, the ads advise, Louis Quartorze, Sevres (No, don't drop that, it could be a $10,000 vase!), Tiffany, Remington bronze, Hsi Tung and the Right Whiskey, and people will know without a doubt that you are CULTURED.

Madison Avenue does have its point, however. One of the ads cites the story of a rare Tiffany lamp which was bought in 1969 for $2,000 and is now worth $15,000. Or a Remington bronze which has quadrupled in value the past 10 years. If only the ads could tell us what to buy now for culture AND investment, I doubt if the dealers could keep that item on the shelves.

YEARS AGO, I thought I had discovered the best investment since AT&T. I discovered Quimper ware, which is a brightly colored peasant-type pottery from France, originally designed by Henri Quimper. Name-droppers say, in the French way, "Campair," while those who are looking for a bargain say "Quimper," as the word sounds. I found, for only a couple of dollars, a coffee pot, a pitcher and a plate, and I was out to corner the market.

But alas! I found it had already been cornered. Those were the only bargains I ever found in Quimper, for once I started collecting it, I found there were many others who were doing the same thing. Next, I decided the up and coming thing was R.S. Prussia porcelain. After all, the price had climbed from $1.29 for a pitcher in 1890 to $129 in 1960. At that rate, if I bought enough, I would surely be rich in 1970. Not so. R.S. Prussia leveled at its 1960 price. So I have a few pieces, but I doubt that I could sell them for much more than I paid.

AND SO IT goes. Cut glass enjoyed a spurt of popularity a few years ago, but demand now seems to be down. Hand-painted china has suffered the same fate. (I will except the very unusual, large, ornate pieces of cut glass or hand-painted; these are always popular.) And those persons who put their life savings into a collection of Jim Beam bottles are sadder but wiser, unless they got out in time.

I never bought any Jim Beams because I feel that anything which deliberately sets out to become a collectible investment (and the market is flooded with these items today!) usually fizzles out. But only time will tell, if you want to buy some of the limited issues or Bicentennial specials and can wait around about 75 years.

Silver seems to be on the upswing just now. Sterling spoons, for instance (dealers are not interested in plated spoons), have gone from about $3 each to about $14, depending upon pattern and ornateness. Souvenir spoons are very popular among collectors, and there is one in particular, showing old movie stars front and back, called "Actors' Fund Fair" which brings over $100. I once found one of these at a house sale for 50 cents. Look in your mother's silverware chest.

I HAVE A friend who collects wine. He has his cellar filled and has the bottles stacked neatly in new clay tiles. He claims they insulate the basement, are a hedge against inflation and in any catastrophe, can be easily "liquidated." Perhaps I should invest in some of that whiskey the ads promote. But I'd rather have a Tiffany lamp.

If you have a question about your own inflation hedge, please write Grace Carolyn Dahlberg, in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.

'Beyond Customs' examines the American classroom

The book stall

"BEYOND CUSTOMS"
BY CHARITY JAMES
Agathon Press, $8.95

British educator Charity James has ventured into her second book and taken a penetrating look at the successes and failures of modern American education.

After spending more than four years in the United States on a grant from the Ford Foundation to study new methods of education, Mrs. James wrote "Beyond Customs," delving into team teaching, individualized learning, career education, open education and community involvement in schools.

Although directed to teachers and administrators, "Beyond Customs" is a very readable book for parents interested in what goes on in the classroom. The author has managed to stay away from a great deal of jargon so that noneducators can understand what she's talking about.

ONE OF HER OPENING comments is critical of some parents — the pressure groups, the "so-called" community that exposes teachers to extreme pressure and threats for their self-serving, reactionary purposes. She points out the status of teachers in England differs from the United States. English schools were started to improve and control the masses. Being educated is a privilege. Never, but never, does a parent challenge the headmaster of a school.

In the United States, however, public education grew out of the demands of parents to have their children educated. The schoolmaster was hired by the community, told what and how to teach. Education is a right. The control, then and now, rests in the hands of the community — the employer who is often critical and demanding.

Community involvement is not all bad, the author points out. The United States is far ahead of England in using community volunteers, people who come into the schools to share their expertise.

WE ALSO EXPOSE our students to the world beyond the classroom walls, she says, by extensive use of excursions and career education.

While not damning modern methods, Mrs. James notes the abuses of educational systems she saw during 18 months of working closely with teachers across the country.

For example, team teaching should be teachers working together to look at each child individually, but she found a tendency of teams to settle into complacency and mediocrity. Teachers become so comfortable with themselves they forget students.

Individualized learning can be an excellent system if children are allowed to work at their own pace, with the teacher acting as a guide and adviser. What writer-educator James has seen in practive, however, is shallow and impersonal learning with the teacher taking the role of assignment maker and the student deprived of working and learning with his peers.

IN ADDITION TO Mrs. James' critique on American education, "Beyond Customs" includes two sections devoted to creativity in and out of the classroom. The section "Porpoises and Rainbows" is a compilation with papers she has written on creative art and integrating art and academics. The art teacher, she says "is first and foremost the guardian of the senses."

"Passport for the Journey," the last section of the book, talks about using museums as an educational experience, a resource and tool — not just a field trip.

"PENTIMENTO"
BY LILLIAN HELLMAN
Signet, $1.95

Reading "Pentimento" by Lillian Hellman is like delving into a personal diary: the words tumble out like secrets told only to best friends.

The reader become Hellman's friend as she unfolds the stories of people she knew, jetting back and forth in time with the scenery changing from New Orleans to Hollywood, to New York and Marthia's Vineyard.

The moods and recollections of people, now dead, are woven into seven portraits in this book, each equally touching, lke in this book, each equally touching, like young.

She tells her stories in pentimento, she says. "Old paint on canvas, as it ages, sometimes becomes transparent. When that happens it is possible in some pictures to see the original lines: a tree will show through a woman's dress, a child makes way for a dog, a large boat is no longer on an open sea. That is called pentimento because the painter "repented," changed his mind.

"THAT IS ALL I mean about the people in this book. The paint has aged now and I wanted to see what was there for me once, what is there for me now," she writes.

There is Bethe, her German-born cousin, who unknowingly became the vital influence behind Hellman's special love affair with writer Dashiell Hammett.

Miss Hellman is known as a playwright, authoring works such as "The Children's Hour" and "The Little Foxes." She is probably better known, though notoriously, for her open relationship with Hammett, with whom she lived unabashedly.

There is Willy, who married her "ridiculous" great aunt who wore lavalieres and drank Dubonnets. In her Louisiana childhood, Miss Hellman experienced adolescent love for the first time by developing a crush on her Uncle Willy.

"THE ONLY THING that made the feeling for Uncle Willy different was the pain of that first recognition: not of love, but of the struggles caused by love; the blindness of a young girl trying to make simple sexual desire into something more complex, more poetic, more unreachable."

Author Hellman goes into the lighter high points of her life, even though she endured the "Red Scare" in the Queen of country records on new label

Playback

by Tom Von Malder

After nearly a lifetime of recording in Nashville for MCA records, the Queen of Country Music, Kitty Wells, has moved to Macon, Ga. to record the very pleasurable album "Forever Young" for Capricorn records.

Capricorn records, of course, is the home base for the Allman Brothers and it is no surprise to find Brother Richard Betts playing dobro as part of the well-honed Capricorn studio band. Cowboy — Scott Boyer and Tommy Talton — also help out.

Miss Wells has been making records for nearly 26 years now. She started with eight gospel songs (church singing was her introduction to music and performing) recorded in 1949 directly on wax (as it was done in the early days of the industry) for RCA records.

Kitty Wells

IN 1952, she had retired from the music business, but in May of that year her singer husband Johnny Wright (of Johnny and Jack and who chose her stage name from the country standard "I Could Marry Kitty Wells") got her to record four songs, including "It Wasn't God Who Made Honky Tonk Angels." It sold over half a million copies, making her one of the first single woman country sensations.

That start was to lead to 23 No. 1 country records, including such classics as "Release Me," "I Can't Stop Loving You," "I Gave My Wedding Dress Away," "Back Street Affair" and "They're Stepping All Over My Heart." Many were the "hurting heart" brand of ballads that told of marital strife. She was voted the No. 1 country music artist every year from 1953 through 1963, and in 1964 she was declared the undisputed all-time Queen of Country Music by the music industry trade magazines.

THE NEW CAPRICORN album includes her most recent single, Bob Dylan's "Forever Young," which is performed almost with reverence by Miss Wells. Probably the best song, though, is "The Loving's Over," which follows her great tradition of "hurting heart" songs. Another favorite is the nice, light opener, "Too Much Love Between Us."

About the only fault I found with the album is that the two classic songs she does — Otis Redding and Jerry Butler's "I've Been Loving You Too Long (To Stop Now)" and Penn and Lincoln's "Do Right Woman, Do Right Man" — are both cut short just as they really start to develop into something special. (Aretha Franklin's 1967 version of "Do Right Woman" still remains my favorite.)

The album was recorded in two days, which probably accounts for the nice easy relaxed feel.

THE NEW CHARLIE RICH album, "The Silver Fox (Epic records), shows the true versatility of this star performer. The first side, patterned after Rich's stage act, has Rich narrating his career in words and song.

He started his career learning to play piano and "Rondo A La Charlie" just shows a small taste of his skill with that instrument. Rich then says he got hooked by singing the blues and shows he has an excellent blues vocal style when he revives his '50s song, "Don't Put No Headstone On My Grave." It is the album's highlight.

Another of his early songs, the rockabilly "Break-Up," is done in the early Elvis Presley style. The side closes with his recent Grammy Award-winning smash hit "Behind Closed Doors" and a new song, "I Feel Like Going Home."

It is on these last two songs and all of side two that album producer Billy Sherrill really makes his presence felt and I think the album suffers for it. Big orchestra, lush strings and pop-like vocal backgrounds hide Rich's true talent as a singer and piano player. Even so, "Pieces of My Life" is good, as are parts of "Your Place Is Here With Me."

McCarthy days in the '30s. Hers and Hammett's finances fluctuated as she strived to perfect her play manuscripts. Hammett even served time in jail because of political unrest.

There are days and nights of drinking and partying with her friends Arthur W. A. Cowan who drowned himself with steak dinners, women and Rolls Royces and Tallulah Bankhead, a glittering star high-stepping into an acting career.

HER FRIENDS, THE Gerald Murphys, Montgomery Clift, Dorothy Parker, are known to many people, but readers also get to know her Aunt Jenny, a packrat who kept many memories of Louisiana life in scrapbooks and paraphernalia; Honey, a cousin who's a sexual pervert; and Caroline Ducky, a black woman who taught Lillian Hellman a lot about the Black culture most whites do not learn in college classrooms.

Annual Arts League exhibit now at River Trails Library

Entr'acte

Members of the Community Arts League of Wheeling and Buffalo Grove are having their annual exhibit at the River Trails Library in Wheeling. Members exhibiting are Rita Mohacsi, Barbara Sharp, Sylvia Westgard, and Art Faulstich, all of Buffalo Grove; and Jean Bruhn, Allen and Elinore Nilsson of Wheeling.

On exhibit at the Bank of Buffalo Grove this month are paintings by Dorothy Anderson of Arlington Heights. A member of the Mount Prospect Art League and Community Arts League, Mrs. Anderson paints primarily for pleasure, preferring to work with acrylics. Snow scenes are her favorite subject.

Country Players will hold auditions for "6 Rms Riv Vu" Sunday, 7 p.m., and Monday, 8 p.m., at United Methodist Church of Barrington. The two-act comedy is being directed by Ken Boutelle, who is also active with the Guild Players of Hoffman Estates.

The production will be presented two weekends in March at the church. Information, 438-2024 or 438-4565.

Kent and Barbara Burgess of Prospect Heights will be exhibiting in the first indoor art fair today and Saturday in the mall of The Backyard, Route 22 and Milwaukee Avenue in Lincolnshire.

The art fair is being judged by Jack D. Tippens, assistant professor of art at Harper College.

The exhibit will encompass a variety of media including oils, watercolors, acrylics, sculpture, jewelry and pottery. Hours of the exhibit are 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Friday and 11 a.m. to midnight Saturday. Admission is free.

Maine alumnus guest soloist with symphony

Jeff Grabelle, sophomore at Northeastern University and a graduate of Maine East High School, will be guest soloist for Northwest Symphony's second concert Sunday, Jan. 26, in Maine East Auditorium, Dempster and Potter Roads, Park Ridge.

He will perform on the treble recorder in the Telemann "Suite for Treble Recorder and Strings."

A many-faceted musician who plays cello and bassoon as well as the recorder, Grabelle won the National School Orchestra Award and the Mel Tierney American Legion Scholarship while at Maine East. He lives in Park Ridge.

THE ORCHESTRA will perform the premiere of a new composition by Alvin Mistak at the concert, beginning at 7:30 p.m. He is currently orchestra director at Evanston High School and formerly headed District 64's string program for 10 years and directed the Northwest Suburban Youth Symphony for three years. Mistak's composition, "Three Pieces for Orchestra," was born of his impressions, thoughts and feelings while traveling through Vienna, Salzburg and Lucerne.

Season tickets at $7.50 for three remaining concerts or single tickets at $3 may be reserved with Mrs. Ann Butler, 631-6132, after 6 p.m. Students and senior citizen admissions are $1.50. Children under 12 may attend free if with an adult.

Maynard Ferguson at Meadows High

Maynard Ferguson and his orchestra return to Rolling Meadows High School for the third time in the second of three jazz concerts being sponsored during 1974-75 by Music Boosters of Rolling Meadows High School.

Ferguson, noted for his trumpet technique, and his band will play Tuesday, Jan. 28, in the school gymnasium beginning at 8 p.m.

University and high school band members, professional musicians and jazz fans are invited to take advantage of hearing the performance. Individual tickets are $4 while group orders of 10 or more may be bought for a 10 per cent discount with complimentary tickets to group directors. Discount orders must be in by Jan. 24. Further information is available by calling 259-9640 or 255-7985.

Night out

Still like to eat out? Pick a new restaurant

by GENIE CAMPBELL

We read about it everyday. Hard times are here. Yet judging from the new restaurants opening within the last several months, it appears to be clear spending ahead instead of severe belt tightening.

The fact is, people do have to eat. And perhaps that's the biggest reason for the unflinching optimism of new suburban restaurateurs. Couples, they believe, will continue to occasionally splurge by dining out . . . that is until they are absolutely unable to do so. And the suburbs do have a certain lifestyle to maintain.

Indications are, however, that new restaurants are taking the "times" somewhat into consideration. Most menus include a wide price range in entrees with complete gourmet style dinners available as low as $5. Not many I admit. But you don't have to spend $10 or $15 even if the neighbor at your right does. But cut out the wine then, too.

If you're among the lucky ones still relatively unaffected by inflation, you could experiment every night of the week.

GUS LYKOS recently opened a new restaurant and lounge, TINOS, at the corner of Higgins and Roselle Roads in Hoffman Estates. Named after a Greek island, the restaurant is currently in the same building that once housed both the Rainbo Bar and Captain's Cove.

The menu includes a wide range of seafood, steaks and flaming dishes. Prices are reasonable, ranging from half of chicken at $4.25 to $8 for surf and turf. Prices in fact are even expected to be lowered in the next couple of weeks. Other offerings include barbecued back ribs and Cordon Bleu. The chef is JERRY BLANKENBERG, formerly of Sportsman Country Club and the Den in Roselle.

Tinos' also features a special menu section for children who may order portions just their size.

MAX GORDON is at the organ in the lounge beginning at 5 p.m. nightly Tuesday through Saturday. But if you need a reason to try the new restaurant, sign up for Tinos' first "Greek Nite" Feb. 3.

The new BLUE CHIPPER at 1165 Elmhurst Rd., Des Plaines, is one of several Blue Chippers planned for the Chicago area. Vice president in charge of food is Robert Pope, son of the late Francois Pope.

The entire concept centers upon fast food service for both breakfast and lunch, with a switch to white linen tablecloths and more leisurely dining at night.

A speciality of the house is French pancakes and crepes. Prices are moderate. A six-course gourmet dinner will be introduced at Blue Chipper sometime next month for those who can both afford to eat a lot both wallet-wise and weight-wise.

ANDIRON'S RESTAURANT opened Nov. 11 in the Willow Park Shopping Center at the corner of Palatine and Milwaukee Roads in Wheeling.

Owner JOSEPH OLIVERA emphasizes casual dining in a decor highlighted by a large four-sided fireplace in the center of the dining room. Entrees include broiled chicken at $3.95 and baby back ribs at $6.95. Steaks, lobster and crab legs are also on the menu. A salad bar is available for both lunch and dinner.

I suggest if you're anxious to try VICTORIA STATION, 675 Mall Dr., off Higgins Road in Schaumburg, choose a week night instead of a weekend. Reservations are not taken and the waiting time on Saturday nights is averaging an hour and a half. But that certainly indicates the restaurant's popularity.

There are 39 Victoria Stations in the chain coast to coast. Though this is the first to open in the Chicago area, another will soon be in operation in Northbrook and a third in Villa Park.

The restaurant concept is unusual in that the dining room is housed in three authentic freight cars with a caboose for the lounge. Inside, the decor is old English.

Speciality of the house is prime rib though the restaurant also features steaks and shrimp. Prices range from $4.95 to $6.95 and that includes a salad bar with all dinners. Fresh sauteed mushrooms are also featured on the menu.

Also recently just opened is THE ATRIUM at 3223 W. Algonquin Rd., Rolling Meadows. The contemporary decor features a fountain in the center foyer which is a takeoff on Roman architecture that utilized open-air gardens in the center of homes. Hence the name Atrium. Earthen tones are used throughout in the color scheme.

A gourmet menu includes both a wide variety in beef and seafood. Vegetables are ala carte though all entrees are served with tossed salad and choice of potatoes. Prices are reasonable.

The CAFE DU CHEF at 325 Northwest Hwy. in the Village Oasis, Palatine, features Italian, French and German cuisine with a salad bar. From three or four nightly specials you may order main entree, salad bar and hot loaf of bread for $3.95. Other dinners are priced up to $6.95.

Pizzas and sandwiches are available right next door at the OASIS PUB under the same ownership as Cafe Du Chef. Antique auctions are held every Monday night. Reservations are necessary. Also beginning soon on Wednesday evenings will be an amateur auction night. Area residents will be invited to bring in their own antiques to sell.

Have you heard of R. J. Grunts located on the near north side of Chicago? Many people travel there specially just to feast on the salad bar that often includes caviar and a variety of fresh fruits even in the dead of winter. Now it's closer to home.

TID-BITS, recently opened in Woodfield Shopping Center, is patterned after R. J. Grunts and will be offering the same kind of menu, and of course, salad bar too. They are also featuring a bargain basement special for kids at 99 cents. This includes a hot dog, chips, box of animal crackers, safety sucker on a string and a Walt Disney Ring.

Now those are my kind of prices. I wonder how restaurants feel about serving child portions to adults?

Jan. 24 opening for 'Company'

Music on Stage opens its production of "Company" Friday, Jan. 24, at the Wheeling-Northbrook Holiday Inn on Milwaukee Avenue.

Its Feb. 1 performance is already sold as a benefit to Delta Gamma sorority, but there are performances on Jan. 25 and 31 and again Feb. 7 and 8 as well as next Friday night.

"Company" will barely be under way when MOS conducts auditions for its third musical of the current season, "Anything Goes." Tryouts will be held Sunday, Jan. 26, and Tuesday, Jan. 28, at the Green Barrel beneath Olympic Park swimming pool, Arlington Heights. Auditions time is 8 p.m. both days.

Director Tom Ventriss and musical director Bill Cotsakis will be looking for eight leads and chorus parts in the Cole Porter revival. Camille Baranchik will be auditioning tap dancers. The musical is scheduled for presentation in April at Rolling Meadows High School.

Ticket information on "Company" may be had by calling Karol Verson, 966-4720.

KIDS' KORNER

by MARILYN HALLMAN

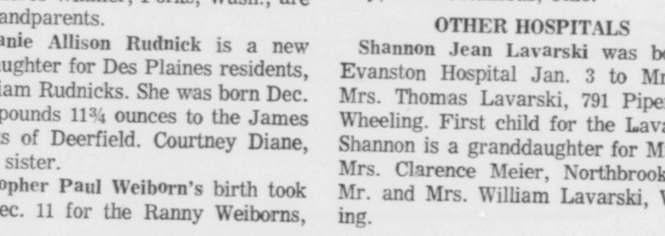
On The Town

There's always lots to do in downtown Chicago. Here are several special programs you may enjoy.

Field Museum, Roosevelt Road at Lake Shore Drive: "Cats, the Graceful Hunters" is a self-guided tour of museum exhibits for children who can read and write. It brings out the differences and similarities between pet cats and their larger, fiercer relatives. Pick up free journey sheets at the entrances. This journey will continue through Feb. 28. On Feb. 9 and 16, prizewinning nature slides will be shown in Lecture Hall at 2 p.m. (Phone 922-9410)

Adler Planetarium, 1300 S. Lake Shore Drive: Our universe is constantly moving. All these moving bodies — from tiny atoms to huge galaxies — are the subject of the current Sky Show, "Cosmic Choreography." Shows are at 2 p.m. weekdays and at 11 a.m., 1, 2, 3, and 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. There is also a 7:30 p.m. show Tuesdays and Fridays. Children under 6 are not admitted. (Phone 294-2200)

Museum of Science and Industry, 57th Street and South Lake Shore Drive: A Shirley Temple doll, a wooden horse pulling an Irish gig and other antique toys are being shown through March 31. During January there is also a special arts and crafts exhibit by local Puerto Rican artists. (Phone MU 4-1414)



Hand spray should get rid of cluster flies in attic

The homeline by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: If I hadn't seen them, I wouldn't have believed it — flies in the wintertime. How on earth could all these large black flies get into the attic? A relative said they must be the cluster fly. Would you know how I might get rid of them? — Monica Werner

I'm almost certain these are cluster flies — which actually are parasites of earthworms. They come into homes in the fall to hibernate, and a warm day or unusual sunshine will make them come to. As they are weak from hibernation, lack of food and moisture, they ought to be easy to eliminate with a small hand duster, using either 5 per cent Sevin, 5 per cent malathion or 10 per cent chlordane — whichever one you can find available. Spray the whole attic, especially in the cracks and around any window frames.

Dear Dorothy: We moved into an apartment with wall-to-wall carpeting. I'd hoped to use small Oriental rugs on it. However, they creep, crawl and bunch. Any solution? — Mary Gerard

If there is one, all the experts I've checked have never heard of it. What happens is that the pile is soft and, as you depress it, the yarn goes up and down and moves the top layer (the small rug), and it finally starts creeping.

Dear Dorothy: Whenever we go to a restaurant and order chili, we find each granule or morsel of beef separate from the others. When we make such a dish at home, much of it comes out in lumps. Is there a trick to making such a lump-free product? — E. G. McLean

One excellent cook I know always uses a wooden spoon to stir such a dish. She maintains it's the constant movement in the pan which determines how large the morsels will be. When she stirs meatballs (which should stay intact), she uses a fork.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.

Diane Wille wed in Ohio

Recent newlyweds, Diane Marie Wille of Des Plaines and Gary Alan Fifield of Centerville, Ohio, met while attending Maranatha Institute, a Christ-centered charismatic Bible school in Centerville, where they are still students.

Their afternoon wedding took place Dec. 21 in the town's United Methodist Church, followed by a church reception. They then spent a week on Mount Desert Island in Maine.

Diane, daughter of the Wilfred W. Willes of 1037 Hollywood Ave., is a graduate of Maine West High School. She attended Valparaiso (Ind.) University and Outreach Bible Training School in McIntosh, Minn., before going to Maranatha.

Her husband, son of the Glenn E. Fifields, previously attended Colgate University, Hamilton, N.Y.

COMING DOWN the aisle the bride wore an ivory organza gown embroidered in flowers and a matching veil with Camelot cap. She carried an all-white bouquet. Her attendants wore light blue velveteen and carried white and pink bouquets.

Mrs. Nancy Vogel of Wheaton, Diane's sister, was matron of honor and Gary's brother, Greg, was best man. Mrs. Marcia South, Youngstown, Ohio, served as bridesmaid and Martin Evers III and Thomas Seither, both of Centerville, as ushers.

Anyone interested may call Mrs. Doug Moore, 593-8933.

AAUW panel topic

Woman and her changing lifestyles

by MARIANNE SCOTT

After a woman has reared her small children — which takes 10 to 15 years — then what?

"Drink!" This quip from the audience brought laughs, but everyone listening to the American Association of University Women's panel on "Expanding Steps to Human Liberation" knew it was only an ironic remark.

Between the ages of 25 and 65 "a lot goes on," said Dr. Diana Higgins, psychologist. Unless a woman is flexible, when her role as mother runs out she loses her identity. A woman's needs are fulfilled by filling roles and it's a redefinition of oneself, expanding one's horizons, that keeps you going, advised Dr. Higgins, who bases her practice on the belief that people continue to grow throughout adulthood.

OTHER PANELISTS at Tuesday's meeting of Schaumburg branch of the AAUW meeting at Harper College, were Dr. Helena Z. Lapata, professor of sociology at Loyola University; Rena Trevor, coordinator of women's programs at Harper; and Judith Reavy, who heads her own firm in the search for women to fill corporate executive positions.

Dr. Lopata traced the traditional, restricted role of woman as housekeeper from the 17th Century when the industrial revolution freed males from dependence on their own parents and families. Once he could go to school and get his own job, man needed a wife to maintain his own household.

Before the 17th Century and its commercial, technological, scientific and other revolutions, woman was part of a large community group, a functional member of society, according to Dr. Lopata. Since then, the restrictions of running a houshold kept her at home until almost World War II when significant changes in women's roles began taking place.

SHE ALSO POINTED out that the male's role hasn't changed much during this period. Males have become slaves to their jobs and become isolated from their families, friends and even their former business associates as they climb the ladder. Dr. Lopata foresees teamships, perhaps with husband and wife working one job and taking turns staying home.

Mrs. Trevor said that Harper's programs for women have received tremendous response from women in the community, and pointed out that the older women, who are highly motivated and not subject to "distractions" as are younger women, have higher grades. She assured the women that their frustrations and feelings of guilt when working outside the home are quite normal. It's a matter of resettting priorities, clean floors not necessarily being the goal of all women all of their lifetime.

MRS. REAVY, WHO said she went to college when women were trained to catch a husband and the Ladies Home Journal was the bible, told of her return to the business world after an absence of 10 years. She also told of women's self-doubt in entering or re-entering the business world.

Men, the panel remarked, have been given positive feedback as to their capabilities; women have not. The panel and audience agreed that women, too, should be allowed to "bomb" and stand on their own two feet in business.

It was also agreed that "things are improving." The independence of girl children is showing. Children with working mothers are thriving and are often more independent. Schools are beginning career programs in kindergarten.

Discrimination against women in the business world was also discussed, but time did not permit a discussion of whether women are succeeding in reconditioning the men. The subject was left for another evening.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Presbyterians losing war?

Once a year, a group dynamics marvel (or horror, depending on one's point of view) is staged by leaders of the United Presbyterian Church.

The vital necessity of this annual national gathering was explained recently by the retiring Moderator of this event, which is called the General Assembly:

"A General Assembly is almost consistently more liberal than the constituency," said the Rev. Clinton Marsh. "To understand this, one must watch the dynamics of a General Assembly. I've watched commissioners (delegates) almost have to take their left arm and push their right arm up to vote, because they were going so contrary to the baggage they brought with them."

JUST WHAT IS it that accounts for all this strenuous arm-pushing, which is so contrary to the "baggage" (which baggage includes, presumably, the hopes of the people these commissioners were elected to represent)?

Explained Marsh: "After some of these people have wrestled through the dynamics of the Assembly, they will have heard the issues put in a broader perspective . . . people who hadn't, you know, read anything but Mr. Kinsolving's sort of stuff back home, would now come here and get a chance to see and hear these issues put in a broader perspective, that they're people who would vote more liberally than when they left home."

March was not exclusively anti-Kinsolving's-sort-of-stuff. For he also angrily charged that "Presbyterians have made Reader's Digest your Bible — despite its vicious lies about the World Council of Churches!" Time magazine fared no better than Kinsolving and the Reader's Digest, for, Marsh said, the famed weekly newsmagazine had covered a previous Assembly in a manner "so wrong that it appeared that the reporter had not even been there!")

WHAT ANTIDOTES does the Presbyterian high command have to counteract such reportorial villainy?

Well, almost any ecclesiastical power structure has not only the distinct advantage of incumbency, but an aura which seems to impress many of the devoutly susceptible with the idea that the speaker's platform is a modern Mount Sinai, with the assembled leaders thereupon speaking for the Almighty — directly and invariably — their manuscripts all having been composed by fiery fingers.

This awe-inspiring impression is implemented by paper in the distribution to each and every commissioner of no less than 2,245 pages of reports (an estimated one million words) of required reading.

If after this deluge any commissioner is still at all rebellious, he is usually mashed by the parliamentary genius of the Assembly's stated Clerk, a Kansas attorney named William P. Thompson.

THE PRESBYTERIAN power structure is therefore able, year after year, to go right on winning Assemblies while, across the nation, continuing to lose the war. For example:

- In 1971 this seventh largest denomination in the nation lost more than 100,000 members and began a downward slide in financial income which reduced the national budget 25 per cent.
- In 1973, the headquarters power structure spent $6 million more than it received in income, and met the resulting deficit by using the denomination's financial reserves. (In 10 years, $40 million in reserves has been cut in half with $32 million worth of commitments and mortgage guarantees made despite the reserve balance of only $20 million.)

Baha'i to mark 26th 'World Religion Day'

The Baha'i Faith is observing the 26th anniversary of World Religion Day Sunday.

The day is intended to proclaim oneness of all the great religions, and to emphasize that religion is the motivating force that will eventually prompt the establishment of peace on earth, said Michael D. Noble, chairman of the Wheeling Baha'i.

The event, Noble said, is celebrated in more than 5,000 communities throughout the country where Baha'i currently reside.

The Baha'i Faith originated in Persia in 1844. It has followers in more than 300 nations and territories of the world. The World Center of the Baha'i Faith is located on Mount Carmel, in Haifa, Israel.

Notice of Public Hearing

PROPOSED ZONING ORDINANCE AMENDMENTS VILLAGE OF INVERNESS

Notice is hereby given that the Plan Commission of the Village of Inverness will meet on Tuesday, February 4th, 1975 at 7 P.M. at the Inverness Village Hall (Field House) at the North end of Highland Road, Village of Inverness to consider the following matters:

1. Amendment to Section 3.02 of the text of the Zoning Ordinance to indicate that generally a Planned Unit Development is desirable upon annexation of substantial tracts of land which are expected to be developed shortly after annexation and amendment to Section XIA to allow a Planned Unit Development in any Zoning District as a special use.

2. Rezoning to allow a Planned Unit Development within the A-1 zoning classification of the following described property and annexation of such portions of said property as are not now within the Village of Inverness upon the application of Louis Werd:

The East half of the Northwest quarter of Section 18, Township 42 North, Range 10 East of the Third Principal Meridian, Palatine Township, Cook County, Ill.

Said property is located on the North side of Bradwell Road, approximately ¾ mile West of Ela Road.

3. Amendment of Section 1.03 of the text of the Zoning Ordinance, relative to incidental uses of property, to exclude all detached buildings and thus require that all buildings and structures other than swimming pools be attached to the main residence.

4. Rezoning from the A-2 (20,000 square feet per lot) to A-1 (40,000 square feet per lot) of the following described property:

Golf View Estates, Units 1 and 2, being a subdivision of part of the Southwest quarter of Section 16, Township 42 North, Range 10 East of the Third Principal Meridian, Palatine Township, Cook County, Illinois.

Said property is located on the East side of Roselle Road, approximately six-tenths of a mile South of Baldwin Road.

Copies of the applicable text amendments and petitions are available at the Office of the Village Clerk. All interested persons are invited to attend the hearing and will be given an opportunity to be heard.

'Protein powder' buyer victim of a ripoff

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

My friend and I wanted to build up our bodies so we joined a health club and started lifting weights. We kept it up for six weeks and had good improvement. We were pretty satisfied with ourselves. Our weight training instructor recommended a protein powder for us to gain muscles faster.

He tells us that the only thing that turns to muscle is protein so naturally if you shove in more protein you will build faster.

This protein powder costs about $20 and we are supposed to have three servings a day. We take 1/3 cup of protein with eight ounces of half-and-half each time.

I want to know if I am wasting my money on this protein. Supposedly all the big muscle men started out with this stuff. A guy working out in the gym said he used it and gained 15 pounds in one month.

I have been using the stuff for a week and haven't gained a pound. The store where I bought it told me I am too active and am burning it off. The cashier told me to consume more half-and-half and more protein supplement and he would guarantee me I would gain weight.

You are the victim of a ripoff. Worse yet, the program you are on is bad for your health. I am totally against such efforts to gain weight.

You can gain weight with such programs, but if you take in a lot more calories than you need to build muscles you will be building FAT instead. It is ugly and unhealthy.

That half-and-half is loaded with FAT and much of it is saturated fat that leads to deposits of fatty cholesterol in the arteries to the heart and other vital parts of the body. And, being young won't prevent it from happening. Half-and-half won't provide any significant amount of protein for you, only fat to make you fatter instead of more muscular.

Cutting down on your activity and stuffing yourself is like fattening a steer for fat, tender beef.

The body only uses as much protein as you need to build muscles and various protein substances. If you take more than your body needs for the building process it also is converted to fat.

THE WEIGHT training is the stimulus to make the muscles grow. Even with the most vigorous training program the body needs little more than 100 grams (3 and ½ ounces) of protein a day. You can get this from a quart of milk a day and two seven-ounce servings of lean meat, fish or poultry.

Of course, you need to have enough calories to support your daily activity and if you don't get it then the protein might be used for energy rather than building. But you can use a lot of foods for calories that are not expensive ripoffs.

Concentrate on the weight training. Eat enough and use the meat group and milk memtioned above and you will do just fine.

Stocks mixed in slow day; Dow up 2.35

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market scored an irregular gain Thursday.

The Dow Jones industrial average, up and down throughout the day, gained 2.35 at 655.74. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index lost 0.09 to 72.05 and the average price of a New York Stock Exchange common share did not change. Advances topped declines, 821 to 440, among the 1,793 issues crossing the tape.

Volume totaled 17,110,000 shares, compared with 16,580,000 traded Wednesday.

Rails and coal mining issues generally were higher in light of President Ford's call for more use of coal. Norfolk & Western gained 1-5/8; Chessie System, Southern Ry. and Union Pacific 1-1/4 each and Burlington Northern 1. Utah International added 1-1/8, Eastern Gas & Fuel 3/4 and North American Coal 1/2. Also Lukens Steel gained 1.

Data General led the actives, off 1-3/8 to 10-5/8 on 428,900 shares. Including a block of 339,000 shares at 9. Earlier this week, a civil suit was filed in California charging the firm and some of its top officials with going beyond normal competitive practices to drive a smaller firm out of business.

PRICES CLOSED higher on the American Stock Exchange. The Amex market value index gained 0.52 to 68.08 and average price of an Amex share did not change. Volume totaled 1,858,000 shares, compared with 1,970,000 traded Wednesday.

In American Exchange options trading, 3,371 contracts were traded, compared with 1,419 Wednesday. Walt Disney April 30, trading for the first time, led the actives, closing at 2-3/4 on 507 contract. Disney April 15 followed, closing at 5-1/4 on 336 contracts. Burroughs April 70, another new option, was third, closing at 3-1/8 on 164 contracts.

Win at bridge
by Oswald and James Jacoby

The special finesse did it

Dr. John Fisher of Dallas is known to be a rather slow player. His partners don't mind this slowness because, after he gets through thinking, John has a habit of coming up with the right play.

Against the expected spade lead John would have had no real problem. He would simply draw trumps; discard one club loser on the king of hearts and eventually set up dummy's fifth heart for a second discard. All this while ruffing his last two spades with dummy's third and fourth trump.

The king of clubs lead was bothersome. He had to get rid of his two losing clubs before he could play a spade.

He played a heart to the ace, discarded one club on the king of hearts, ruffed a heart, thought for some time, led a low diamond and finessed dummy's nine. If the finesse had lost to the jack he would have been down two, but the finesse worked and East followed. Now John ruffed another heart with the ace of trumps, entered dummy with the queen, discarded his last club on the last heart and conceded a spade.

His special finesse was the correct play.

Division leaders in crucial league games

Powerful Prospect visits Elk Grove in South test

A Herald Staff Report

The Prospect Knights are finding out that — in basketball, at least — it's not so easy to shake the rest of the teams in the Mid-Suburban League's South division.

The Knights were preseason favorites to capture division honors and, with a 5-0 record, they could be on their way. But now when they look over their shoulder, what they see are Elk Grove (4-1) and Forest View (4-1) in hot pursuit.

Tonight at 8:00 the Knights will get a stiff challenge from hosting Elk Grove, Forest View will try to keep pace against visiting Rolling Meadows (1-4), and Schaumburg (0-5) will entertain Conant (0-5).

PROSPECT AT ELK GROVE

There is another team trailing Prospect now in the South division race and the Knights will have a first-hand opportunity to make contact with the new contender when they travel to Elk Grove tonight.

The Grenadiers moved into a share of the second-place berth last week when they slipped past unbeaten Forest View, 50-49. The verdict also had the effect of leaving coach Bill Slayton's Prospect club all alone at the top, but it's doubtful the Knights will be wishing to express any gratitude on the Gren court tonight.

"This would be a nice one to win," Slayton offered, "but going from past performances, that will be no easy task for us. They're an awfully scrappy ball club and their record shows that it's paying off for them."

Slayton recalled that the last time his team hooked up with the Grove was in regional action last year and Prospect pulled away with a narrow three-point verdic. "I'd settle for that much of a margin again but I imagine they have other ideas."

The Knights will be aiming for their sixth straight MSL win after polishing off Rolling Meadows, 76-60, Tuesday. Their usual starting lineup of Paul Withey, Doug Bonthron, Al Black, Dave Mann and Mike Quade is expected to remain intact.

The South division of the MSL has bloomed into a three-team race and the Grens have the upper hand among the two teams chasing undefeated Prospect. Their victory over the Falcons coupled with Tuesday's 49-45 win at Schaumburg left Elk Grove a game off the pace at 4-1.

The Grens forced numerous Saxon traveling violations and bad passes and held the Schaumburg offense to only 16 field goals. Schaumburg had a wide margin at the free-throw line, where they hit 13 of 21 shots compared to Elk Grove's 5 of 12, and an equal distribution of baskets would have been fatal for the Grens.

Head coach Bill Parmentier has been getting a lot of help from his bench and he was able to bring in subs Mark Stadd-ler, George Jarosch, and Steve Nicholas at the end of the first half to give his regulars a rest.

Two black clouds the Grens are looking at as they come up to the Knights is rebounding and size. Prospect's front line may be the most physical Elk Grove has faced since Addison Trail and they will need a more aggressive spirit on the backboards than they showed against Schaumburg if they are to survive.

The Saxons whipped Elk Grove, 21-13,

SCHILDT'S SHARE. Keith Schildt of Wheeling brings down one of 13 rebounds he collected during Tuesday's league clash with Buffalo Grove. Arlington hosts Wheeling with slim lead in North

A Herald Staff Report

A crime will be committed at Grace Gym tonight when the North Division's top two ball clubs — Wheeling and Arlington — collide on the basketball court.

The crime will be that one of the teams has to lose.

Both squads have the motives and the weapons. The Wildcats have engineered an 11-2 overall record on physical strength and an effective inside game while Arlington's 10-2 log has been derived from exceptional quickness and balanced scoring.

The showdown begins at 8 p.m. and will be carried live by WWMM-FM, 92.7.

Unbeaten Arlington will gamble its 5-0 conference record against Wheeling's once-blemished 4-1 mark while elsewhere around the division, Palatine (3-2) invades Fremd (1-4) and Buffalo Grove (2-3) hosts Hersey (1-4).

Here's what the coaches have plotted:

WHEELING AT ARLINGTON

Double or nothing.

This is the way tonight's big Wheeling-Arlington clash stacks up, the hosts putting their undefeated conference record on the line and the Wildcats having their first golden opportunity to end a game of "catch up" in the North division standings.

The very first round of Mid-Suburban League basketball this season saw the Cardinals ripping Conant while the 'Cats were dropping a contest to Prospect. Wheeling has won every loop outing since then and failed to pick up a yard of ground in the North chase.

The reason they've failed is that the Redbirds have been winning all along as well.

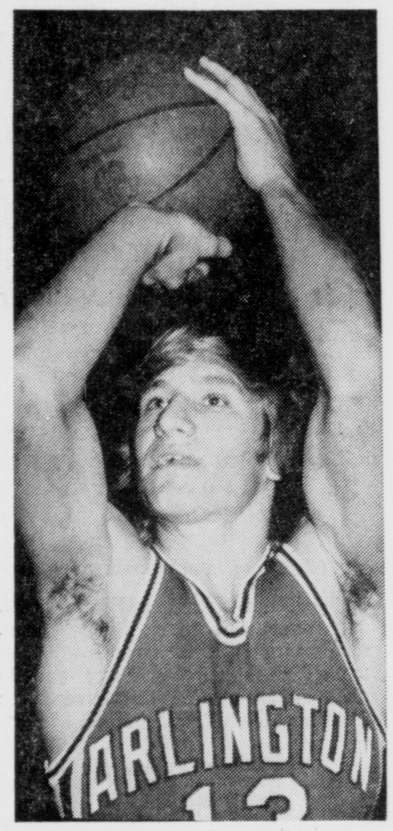
Now something has to give. A win for the guests would even everything up at the top. A triumph for Arlington would double their lead to two games and considerably slim Wheeling's chances of collecting a divisional title.

"I would have preferred to play this game a few weeks ago," suggested Wildcat coach Ted Ecker. "That (Jerry) DeSimone is a terror again from what I understand and his return to the lineup makes them just that much tougher.

"Of course, we've been showing signs of improvement too as the season progresses. Arlington is quite possibly the class of the league but I feel we're capable of hanging in there with them."

His 'Cats received a big boost by subduing Buffalo Grove Tuesday 65-50 and while Mike Hallstrom, Steve Criss and Keith Schildt led the attack, Mike Brzuszkiewicz was putting the clampers on a second scoring whiz (he had blanketed Hersey's top scorer the previous game).

But when you talk about shutting off



JOHN YEAZEL

Arlington's scoring ace, you're collectively talking about the starting five. Through their first 12 games, the Cardinals have had no less than five leading scorers at one time or another.

In five league games, center Terry Donahue owns a 14.8 scoring average, DeSimone has 13.5, Mike Fogel and Denny Gaare are at 12.6 and John Yeazel has 12.0, off a 21-point performance Tuesday.

"We're probably in the best physical shape as we've been all year," Card coach George Zigman said. "And apparently, we're going to need it against Wheeling. They have very good size with better than average quickness."

The omnipresent Arlington full-court press has also gained notoriety, most recently in the Cardinals' decisive 87-61 triumph over Fremd Tuesday.

"The kids are becoming more familiar with their responsibilities on the press," Zigman concurred. "That's where the team effort really comes in. Everybody has to do a job, otherwise it just doesn't work."

Zigman acknowledged the importance

Obscure but vital positions

The contributions are many. The plaudits are few.

They often labor in obscurity. Some like it that way. They don't mind working in the shadows.

Others are just waiting for the opportunity to move up. They like the bright lights on center stage.

They're called assistant coaches.

You see them at every contest, but you probably don't know their names. They could be called the Anonymous Bunch. You can spot one sitting next to the head coach.

What motivates these coaches when their duties obviously are performed with little fanfare? How do they handle the situation when they disagree with the head man?

There are many interesting ramifications to an assistant's position in coaching, and few people understand some of the difficulties. That's why I was interested in an in-depth survey that covered the assistant's role at high school, college and professional levels.

The responses to the survey were anonymous for obvious reasons, but they do offer a binocular view of a role that can be both frustrating and fulfilling.

When queried on the advantages and satisfactions of the job as an assistant coach, 17 of 50 men listed "less pressure" as the prime benefit. When was the last time an assistant was hung in effigy?

"Your mistakes aren't as likely to cost you your job," said one. Another offered, from the college level: "You don't have to worry about the alumni and the administrators."

Ten coaches felt "experience gained" was the main advantage of the job, and eight football assistants felt that concentrating on a single phase of the game was a definite plus.

"Personal relationships with team members" was pinpointed by 18 men as the foremost satisfaction. "This is my greatest reward as an assistant coach," said one man. "I'll take more work with the boys and fewer luncheons any day."

It was interesting that half of the men polled felt "conflict of philosophy" was the main frustration. Twenty-five of the 50 assistants admitted they could not agree with their chiefs on such items as selection of personnel, disciplining, calling of plays and overall strategy.

Communication breakdown placed a distant second, many coaches probably assuming it was integral to the "conflict" hangup. Remaining in a supporting role and never receiving credit for their work irked several assistants.

Only three coaches resented not receiving sufficient praise for their work. "He gives me more than I deserve," admitted one high school coach.

Twelve of the coaches believed their chief deserved the credit accorded him and felt he was generous in recognizing their contribution, One right-hand man, however, appeared to have legitimate grounds for complaint: "For a while most people didn't even know I was the assistant."

Maybe the most trenchant answer came from a football assistant who said, "It's surprising what can be accomplished when nobody cares who gets the credit."

A major problem that confronts many assistants is promoting an idea or method that they feel is better than the head man's. The majority advocated going as far as possible "without causing dissension" or "alienating him."

Despite a strong dislike for a "yes man," 22 assistants subscribed to the feeling "The boss may not always be right — but he's still the boss." In 16 cases, however, not without a fight: "I'll try at a later time to convince him;" "I'll push until he says 'no,' then sit back and watch his idea fail!"

"I have a rather unique position," one track and field assistant understated. "My head coach knows that I know more than him — and he usually seeks my counsel."

When the coaches were asked what advice they would give to prospective assistants, they gave the nod to "loyalty." "Anyone can undermine and criticize," said one coach, "but it takes a real man to support your head man." Hard work and enthusiasm claimed nine and seven backers respectively in the survey.

The assistants also tossed out some suggestions for the head men — anonymously, of course.

What can a head coach do to make his assistant's life more rewarding?

Significantly, 27 asked for more responsibility.

"Give us as much as we can handle."

"Don't assign us a task and then do it for us."

Forty-five per cent of the group also wanted their duties better defined. "Give us a precise area of responsibility all our own," several requested.

Another touchy area was policy making, and 18 assistant coaches said they felt excluded from the total program.

An interesting statistic showed that 15 of 24 high school assistants requested "credit where credit is due" as compared to only five of 24 college helpers.

The life of an assistant coach is not an easy one. It's easy to forget these people and heap all the praise or abuse on the head man.

A solid organization obviously needs talent on the floor but also needs talent on the sidelines and coaches who can work together.

The assistant coach occupies a supporting role, but there is nothing insignificant about his role in the molding of any team.

The Anonymous Bunch . . . anonymous but vital!

Paddock men's bowling meet at River Rand

Town and Country Builders from Wood Dale, a veteran group of championship quality pin blasters, will return to River Rand Bowl in Des Plaines on Sunday to defend their 1974 title in this year's richest ever Paddock men's bowling tournament.

Jerry Edwards (184 average), Jim Nebel (181), John Cella (176), Dan Summers (167) and Al Hinkhouse (166) make up the Town and Country entry which rolled to victory last year at Buffalo Grove Striker Lanes with 3,073 pins.

Eighty-eight mens' teams have entered competition for more than $1,100 in prizes and individual trophies. Complete starting times and alleys for all teams appear on page four of today's Herald sports section.

The top 10 teams will take home cash awards as will the team which bowls the highest game out of the money in this first of three Paddock winter tournaments.

Paddock Publications will sponsor its annual women's tournament next Sunday, Jan. 26, at Hoffman Lanes in Hoffman Estates. That house will also stage the Champagne Tournament for Mixed Doubles on Saturday, Jan. 25.

More than $1,100 in prize money and trophies will be awarded the women next week with a bounty of $600 for distribution at the Champagne Mixed Doubles tourney.

Tentative men's tournament team cash awards are $293,28 for first, $203.04 for second, $146.64 for third, $112.80 for fourth, $90.24 for fifth, $78.95 for sixth, $67.68 for seventh, $56.40 for eighth, $45.12 for ninth and $33.84 for tenth.

All teams are the first place squads of their respective leagues which compete at bowling establishments within or near the immediate area served by Paddock Publications.

Computerized scoring on a handicap basis will ensure every squad of an equal chance at top money.

Team captains are reminded that any sanctioned bowler is eligible for substitution, providing necessary documentation of average is supplied either by calling Marian Phillips at 394-2300 on Friday or by arriving early and reporting to tournament officials on Sunday at River Rand.

Handicaps included in the paper are unofficial and subject to change after competition has begun.

Cards vs. Wildcats on radio

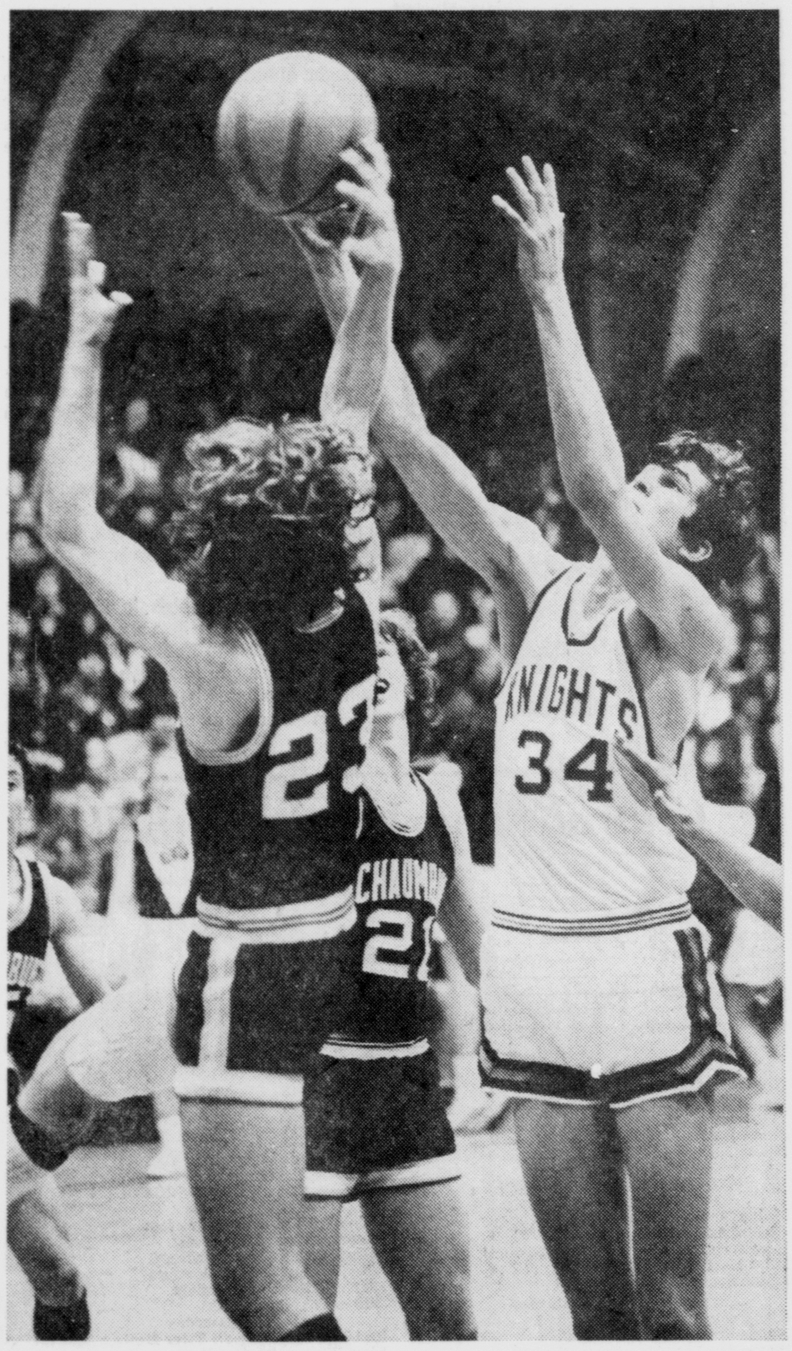
Arlington vs. Wheeling — one of the big basketball games every season — will be featured tonight on WWMM-FM.

Air time is 8 p.m. at 92.7 FM for the battle between the host Cardinals (5-0 in league play) and Wheeling (4-1).

WM Sports Director Howard Balson will call the play-by-play and Herald Sports Editor Bob Frisk will give the color commentary.

In addition to their impressive marks in league play, the opponents tonight also carry the best overall records among Mid-Suburban entries.

Coach George Zigman's Arlington Cardinals stand 10-2 overall with the only losses to LaGrange and Homewood-Flossmoor. Coach Ted Ecker's Wheeling Wildcats are 11-2 with the only setbacks to Prospect and LaGrange.



VEE SHOW. Bob Viviano (23) of Schaumburg and Duff Valentine of Prospect battle for a rebound late in the action during Prospect's 81-55 win Friday. Schaumburg's Marty Golub (21) watches.

of the contest in his final summation. "If we win, we don't have to look behind us. All we have to worry about is Arlington winning. But if we lose, it's a brand new ball game."

HERSEY AT BUFFALO GROVE

While the battle for North Division honors has pretty much turned into a two-horse race, there is still one more rung remaining in the top bracket and Hersey and Buffalo Grove are both in the bidding.

The contest will also provide an opportunity to showcase two of the area's finer underclass cagers . . . Bison sophomore Brian Allsmiller and Huskie junior Clyde Glass.

For Buffalo Grove coach Paul Grady the game is also a point for regrouping his charges, who are still feeling the impact of last Tuesday's 65-50 loss to Wheeling. "It was a big letdown naturally," he said. "Our kids were really beginning to believe in themselves but Wheeling let a lot of air out of the balloon.

"They're young like we are and also having their ups and downs this year," Grady said of the Huskies. "I'd say the verdict tonight rests with the team that best shows the ability to bounce back."

Hersey's chances to bounce back into the MSL picture were dealt a blow last week when 6-5 center Rich Madison suffered strained ligaments in his right leg during practice. Then, Jay McDermott, a 6-6 reserve center who scored seven points against Wheeling Friday, pulled up lame in practice on Monday.

So coach Roger Steingraber has been putting five underclassmen on the court — including 6-4 junior Tom Burzak in the pivot and 6-1 Steve Spaccarelli at a forward spot with top-scoring junior Clyde Glass. The guards have been Mark Knuttel and sophomore Tom Frye.

The result has been even less rebounding strength than before. Against Palatine Tuesday, the Huskies were dominated on the backboards by a physical bunch of Pirates.

Another factor which contributed to Hersey's four-point loss to Palatine was a large number of turnovers. The young and inexperienced Huskies forced several Palatine errors, but they failed to capitalize, especially in the final three minutes.

Glass maintained his 20-point league average and Frye, the 5-9 soph, hit for 14 points while guiding the Hersey attack.

PALATINE AT FREMD

When Palatine visits Fremd in this season's first crosstown battle, the Pirates will have a real high jumper in the lineup.

Coach Ron Finfrock's Palatine squad got a remarkable performance from 6-4 junior Ken Reid last Tuesday against Hersey. The muscular leaper dominated the offensive backboards while gathering 14 points and eight rebounds.

Breaking into the starting lineup wasn't easy for Reid, a high jumper in track, but when he finally got there he took advantage. Now he joins Pirate teammates Mark Mara, Jim Maycan, and Kevin McKenna to give Finfrock one of the most rugged front lines in the MSL.

Mara, the 6-5 forward with a 19-point league average, scored 27 at Hersey Tuesday, and Maycan, the husky, 6-3 senior, grabbed nine rebounds. McKenna, a 6-5 soph, has shown signs of snapping out of his midseason slump. He demonstraed against Hersey that, if left alone, he's deadly from anywhere on the court.

Tom Iuorio capably directed the Palatine offense from his point position Tuesday, and Finfrock seems to have solved that early-season problem.

When asked who would be starting, Fremd coach Leon Kasuboske said, "I don't know. (Tim) Gross is guaranteed because he hustles. He really works at it."

The other four spots were to be earned in Wednesday and Thursday practices.

Kasuboske was not only unsure of his starters but also upset with his team. Twice in five days the Vikings have dropped lopsided games — to Buffalo Grove, 85-61, and to Arlington, 87-61. The loss to Arlington really had Kasuboske talking to himself because his team was beaten by a full court press.

"As long as I've been here, we've never had a problem beating the press," said Kasuboske.

Another thing that's frustrated Fremd is its five-game losing skid. The once proud record of 5-2 is now 5-7. Kasuboske is hoping the latter portion of that mark will stay in a holding pattern when they go against visiting Palatine.

"If we can't get up for this ball game, if we can't do the job here, we're going to be in a bad way," he said. "Usually, this is a big ball game and it gets the old adrenalin flowing.

"If we play like I think we ought to play, we can win the game."

Kasuboske felt his team became "sloppy in the second half" at Arlington. This must be eliminated tonight because the Pirates have the third-best record (3-2) in the North Division and are 6-4 overall. Fremd is still looking for its second league win.

Prospect meets Elk Grove

on the defensive boards and 28-23 overall. Jeff Smith, Bill Prince, Steve Carson, and sixth man Dave Hornacek will have to do better than that if they want to close the one-game lead that separates them from the top of the heap.

ROLLING MEADOWS AT FOREST VIEW

Tonight's the night that Rolling Meadows head basketball coach Ken Arenson comes marching home. The Mustang pilot is very familiar with the surroundings at Forest View, having coached the Falcons for nine years before accepting the reins at Meadows.

But the trip won't strictly be for nostalgic purposes. Forest View seems intent upon chasing Prospect in the South division race, and Rolling Meadows is anxious to prove its talent is better than its 1-4 record.

"It should be another dandy," Falcon coach Ted Wissen speculated. "I don't know how much more exciting these games can get, but this could be another close one."

Forest View has been involved in a tense one-point loss to Elk Grove and an overtime triumph at Conant in its last two ball games.

"We've come a long way," Wissen continued. "We finally got over the hump (8-7 record overall) Tuesday, so now we'll take it from there."

But despite their seemingly lackluster overall mark, the Falcons are just a heartbeat away from unbeaten division-leading Prospect with a 4-1 standard.

After its encouraging showing in a 76-60 loss to Prospect Tuesday, Arenson may have discovered some welcome talent on the bench.

"I was very pleased with the performances of Jerry McGill and Dave Bell," the veteran coach admitted. "We asked them to penetrate that tough Prospect zone and they did a fine job."

McGill and Bell paced a spirited rally by the Mustangs that pulled them within striking range of the Knights with nine and seven points respectively.

Confidence in his reserves and a new-found weapon in a diamond-and-one, full-court press may play a key role against the Falcons tonight.

Sprinkled in with the steady play of John Hogan (18.8 points per game), Steve Breitbeil (8.6) and Tom Holl (10.8), the Mustangs are formidable and hungry — a deadly combination.

Wissen will send Van McLeod and Neil Schmidt into the backcourt, Mark Russo and Dave Ennes to forwards, and Tony Donile into the pivot for tonight's battle.

CONANT AT SCHAUMBURG

Tonight at Schaumburg, when the Cougars and Saxons come off the court, one coach will breath a sign of relief and the other coach will just shake his head and wonder.

Conant and Schaumburg are the only teams in the MSL without a league victory after five tries. And neither squad has deserved such a fate. Both teams captured holiday tourney titles, the Cougars are defending conference champs, and Schaumburg has an imposing 9-1 nonleague mark!

But one of them will win tonight — and the other team will just have to wait and try again.

For Joe Breault's Saxons, the MSL drought almost ended on Tuesday when they had Elk Grove on the ropes before succumbing, 49-45. But foul trouble and a rash of turnovers proved to be the Saxons' undoing.

High-scoring Schaumburg forward Jon McIlraith had to retire to the bench in the fourth quarter with five personal fouls. It was the second league game in a row in which the 6-3 junior's services were lost in the final minutes.

Marty Golub, Schaumburg's 6-3 pivotman, also fouled out late in the game. Junior Ed Chmiel again picked up the scoring slack for the Saxons with 19 points.

Guards Bob Viviano and Ron Geels can expect to see another zone defense when they bring the ball upcourt against Conant. Elk Grove's tough zone held the Saxons to their second-lowest point production of the season.

Spirits should be high in the Cougar camp even though they are coming off an overtime loss to Forest View. The extra-period struggle is as close as Conant has come to breaking out of the South division loss column this year.

St. Viator faces two road battles

by MIKE KLEIN

St. Joseph Charger basketball coach Gene Pingatore, his club 6-1 and one game out front of St. Patrick and Marist in the East Suburban Catholic title race, hasn't begun engraving any trophy yet.

"It's still really up for grabs. The recent scores have been close throughout the league and no team really seems to have an edge," said Pintagore.

"Marist might have a schedule advantage because they've got to play us and St. Pats at their place."

Those games very well could decide the ESCC championship. Marist hosts St. Patrick on Saturday evening and St. Joseph next weekend.

Their last preview to those important dates occurs tonight when Marist hosts the again improving St. Viator Lions who've won once, lost twice and played strong in all three games since 6-foot-6 freshman Paul Wiloff was installed at one forward.

On Saturday, the Lions visit Notre Dame. Both games start at eight o'clock.

Wiloff has been pleasant medicine for the Lions, now 3-4 in conference games and 6-8 overall. Viator coach Steve Antrim doesn't expect any repeat of the 69-48 score by which Marist won earlier this season in Arlington Heights.

And a big reason is Wiloff who's averaged 10.6 points and 11.3 rebounds against the tough competition of St. Patrick (61-52 loss), St. Francis deSales (57-54 win) and St. Joseph (54-52 loss in overtime).

"He also hasn't missed a free throw with eight-for-eight and made two really important ones for us during the fourth quarter against St. Joes," Antrim said.

"I knew Paul could shoot but who could expect him to go eight-for-eight? Actually, he's played better on the varsity than he did for the sophomores."

Consistency has been Wiloff's biggest addition. His per game rebound totals are 11, 11 and 12. That's been a big help for 6-8 junior center Glenn Girard, now with help near the boards. Girard broke loose for 18 points and 13 rebounds in the overtime loss to St. Joseph.

Marist hasn't lost a conference game in three outings, rolling up victories over Carmel, Holy Cross and St. Francis de-Sales by an average 14.3 points. The Redskins are 5-2 halfway through the ESCC schedule.

Notre Dame, Saturday's road opponent, owns a single league victory, that the Dons' 62-57 upset of St. Patrick last weekend. The Dons figured to get hot sooner or later. The current seniors were sophomore conference champions. Notre Dame is 7-9 overall.

McHenry tops Harper on mat

Harper captured three out of four bouts but could not combat forfeits at three other weights and dropped a 21-9 decision to visiting McHenry in Skyway Conference wrestling action.

The Hawks had even less success in a triple dual meet at Blackhawk two days later, falling to Augustana, Florissant Valley and the host Braves.

Against McHenry Bob Fisher took away a 9-2 decision at 134, Bill Nash triumphed 11-3 at 158 and Eric Nickerson forged an 11-5 victory at 167. Bill Becker was pinned in his 190-pound fray but the hosts lost most of their ground in forfeiting at 118, 142 and 150.

Florissant Valley stopped Harper 24-0 while Fisher and Nash were both dropping verdicts to Japanese National Champion entries and Nickerson was absorbing a fall at the hands of Ed Beeks, last winter's 145-pound state AA high school champ. Fisher barely lost his tussle, 4-3.

Blackhawk blanked the Hawks 52-0 and Augustana turned back coach Norm Lovelace's crew 51-3 with Fisher posting a 5-0 win to account for his team's only points.

Harper will travel to Parkland tonight for combat against the Cobras and Danville.

Marmion swims past St. Viator

Tasting its first competition in one month, St. Viator's varsity swimmers went to Marmion and were beaten, 97-71.

The Lions won just 100 backstroke with Mark Nelles clocking 1:00.2 as part of a Viator sweep. Doug Peonski set a sophomore record in 1:00.4 and Bill Carley finished third in 1:04.7.

Other sophomore records were set by Dan Peonski in 500 freestyle, second in a snappy 5:07.3, and Jon Newcomer in 100 butterfly, third in 57.6. Newcomer was also runner-up in 200 freestyle, 1:53.6.

Steve Rogers and Mark Rohl each finished second in two events, Rogers in 200 individual medley, 2:11.9, and 100 breaststroke, 1:10.0. Rohl did it in 50 freestyle, 23.3, and 100 freestyle, 51.6.

Nelles, Mark Rusche, Dan Peonski and Rohl were second, 1:46.9, for Viator in 200 medley relay. The Lions' 400 freestyle relay team was disqualified.

Maine South visits East; Warriors in road battle

by MIKE KLEIN

And then the man's whole world sorta ended.

You can't blame Mel Sheets for distraught emotions, as if someone chopped him in the neck with sharp garden tool, after Maine South toppled his New Trier West Cowboys, 83-53, last weekend.

That was the Central Suburban crossover that New Trier might win, thereby proving the Hawks' vulnerability. What happened?

"I wish I could ansser that. I still don't think they're 30 points better than us except for last Saturday night," Sheets said. Maine South ran up a 27-15 fourth quarter to build its victory margin.

"But look at the bright side," Sheets countered. "If we handle Niles West at our place and Niles West gets them (Maine South) at home, then we're right back in there with a tie."

That's asking a lot, Mel.

Maine South (6-0) remains the Central suburbans only perfect team and should have few problems maintaining that status tonight at Maine East (2-3). "We will show up," Demon coach Paul McClelland promised, a rather bold statement.

With time to consider their recent disaster, New Trier oughta be loaded for revenge tonight when it hosts Maine West (3-2). Both games are eight o'clock starts.

By head coach Gaston Freeman's own admission, the Warriors sometimes have trouble getting untracked. "Many times, we've thought we'd turned the corner," he said. "We've got to get more consistency on defense."

Now 7-6 overall and with potential for 15 wins, West has split its last four games. The defeat that truly hurt came in Saturday's non-conference tilt with New Trier East, 49-47, on a game-ending basket. That's the difference between 8-5 and just one game over .500.

"We're working strong on controlling situations (as West did to beat Mt. Carmel, 45-42) and maintaining the tempo instead of letting the opponent set it," Freeman explained.

The Warriors are at their best when Freeman doesn't have to substitute past a seventh man. They retain continuity and flow. But many losses have been marked by heavy substitution due to personal fouls.

If the Warriors can eliminate that blowing whistle, especially at center where they're just two men deep, John Clark and Mike Aulert, they should attain the school's best season since West shared the Central Suburban title with Maine South in 1970-71.

"We must learn to adjust for officials like we adjust for a team," Freeman said. "Officials will tell you how they're going to call the game. At Deerfield (58-54 win), they said if you touch a man, we'll call a foul. The next night (New Trier East), it was no harm, no foul."

Three excellent shooters, Maine's Glen Heiden plus New Trier's Paul McOsker and John Lewis, could dominate the offense tonight. McOsker goes at forward and Lewis at guard. Both are 6-foot-5.

New Trier does not expect to have usual starting forward Al Wallis who's been out with mononucleosis.

Injuries, illness and shoddy play have thrown Maine East's season into reverse. The Demons are struggling at 6-8 overall and find themselves in a tough fight to finish .500. Playing Maine South doesn't help.

Arlington minor hockey highlights

ARLINGTON HTS. MINOR HOCKEY
SQUIRT DIVISION
"B" TRAVEL TEAM
Arlington Heights "B" 3,
Elk Grove 0

In a very close, fast-breaking game, Arlington won largely due to great goaltending by Joe Golemba who earned his shutout with 25 saves, continually foiling great moves by Elk Grove.

Frotunski scored first for Arlington, taking a perfect pass from Riley and beating the Elk Grove goalie cleanly. In the second period Kangas spied Fortunski in position and fed him the puck for another goal. Girrard capped the scoring with a shot from the blue line.

HOUSE LEAGUE
Blazers 1, Sharks 0

Paul Johnson earned his shutout with eight saves and also broke up some dangerous plays by the Sharks in front of the net. Don Laube picked up a rebound of Tim Schuld's shot and beat Joe Golemba for the game's only score. Jim Wrobel also assisted. After that the defenses went to work and stopped most offensive moves cold.

PEE WEE DIVISION TRAVEL TEAM
Elk Grove 3,
First Federal Savings of Chicago Rangers 1

M. Brawley scored Arlington's only goal, converting a pass from S. Paulson.

First Federal Savings of Chicago Rangers 8,
Lakers 1

Garber, with one goal and three assists, Schrager with 2 goals and one assist, and Paulson with one goal and two assists stood out in a fine Ranger effort. Lund scored two goals, Brawley and Bailley one each. Assists went to Reilly, Mitchell and Auski.

First Federal Savings of
Chicago Rangers 3, Park Ridge 3

The Rangers got on the scoreboard first, taking a one-nothing lead into the second period. Park Ridge took over in the second period, notching 3 goals. The Rangers came back in the third, with two goals to tie the game.

Schrager scored one goal and assisted on another. Lund scored both of the other goals for the Rangers. Mitchell and Brawley were credited with assists.

Glenview 5,
First Federal Savings
of Chicago Rangers 2

Rangers again scored the first goal but Glenview proved too strong in the stretch. Lund and Brawley scored for the Rangers, with assists from Paulson, Schrager and Del Ghingaro.

Glenview 4,
First Federal Savings
of Chicago Rangers 3

Glenview was kept at bay during this game by great goal tending by Aiello, who made 23 saves for Arlington.

Arlington jumped off to a lead in the first period on goals by Schrager, who converted a pass from Garber, and Lund who scored unassisted. Paulson scored Arlington's last goal in the second period with an assist from Auski. Glenview let out all the stops in the third period, scoring two goals to win this one.

Winnetka 6,
First Federal Savings of
Chicago Rangers 2

It was Winnetka's Kyle, in goal, who won this game with an outstanding display, making 29 saves on a rampaging Arlington offense. Lund beat Kyle twice for Arlington's goals, with assists from Paulson, Brawley and Schrager.

Lakers 5,
First Federal Savings
of Chicago Rangers 4

The Lakers won this game with a four goal burst in the first period without an answer from Arlington. The second period belonged to Arlington as Schrager scored two goals and Chatten one to cut the gap to one goal. Both teams scored once in the third period, leaving Arlington the loser. Paulson got Arlington's last goal. Assists were earned by Schrager, Brawley, Hermanson, Garber and Lund.

PEE WEE DIVISION
TRAVEL 'B' TEAM
Dundee 5, Arlington Heights 'B' 1

Playing their first game together, the 'B' team ran into a well organized Dundee squad that took the game away from them. The team improved greatly during the game and Mark Laxgang got Arlington's only score late in the third period.

Arlington Heights 'B' 6,
Barrington 2

Arlington overpowered Barrington in this exciting game, although Barrington threatened often and scored their two goals late in the game.

Scoring for Arlington were Mark Laxgang, with two goals, Chuck Klingler and Tom Reilly each with a goal and an assist, Dave Gardner, with a pair of assists, Mark Herdrich and Butch Holfeld with single goals and Lee Schmidt, Bob Hilistrom and Otter with single assists.

PEE WEE DIVISION
HOUSE LEAGUE
Douglas Federal Savings 6,
Team Four 2

Tim Ditch scored a hat trick for Douglas Federal and notched an assist. Holfeld scored one goal and assisted on two others. Hillstrom scored once and assisted once. Mundorf notched the other tally with Johnson, King and Liberatore earning assists.

Moore did all the scoring for Team Four, both times unassisted.

Team Two 9, Team Three 3

Team Three made a fight of it until the third period when Team Two ran amok, scoring 6 goals.

Laxgang had a great game for the winners, scoring 5 goals and setting up another. Otter was also prominent, scoring twice and assisting once. Weed scored one goal and helped set up two others. Heintz notched one goal and assisted on one other. Gardner earned a pair of assists, with Akers and Cann being credited with single assists.

For Team Three Reilly had a good game, scoring twice and setting up Klingler for the other goal. Macioce assisted on both of Reilly's goals.

BANTAM DIVISION
TRAVEL TEAM
Madison South 3,
Bank of Arlington Heights
Rangers 1

The Rangers led until the last 5 minutes on Larry Hermanson's goal and some great goal tending from Bob Dallstream. Madison got two quick goals in the closing minutes of the game, and scored their final goal on an empty net.

Madison East 3,
Bank of Arlington Heights
Rangers 2

In another great game, Arlington overcame a two goal deficit to tie the game, only to see Madison East score the winning goal late in the game. Steve Thompson and Andy Chatten each scored for the Rangers unassisted.

Madison South 3,
Bank of Arlington Heights
Rangers 1

The Rangers scored the first goal in this game, against the run of the play. Bob Dallstream and Steve Schrager shared goal tending and made 34 saves between them as Madison outshot the Rangers 34 to 6. Randy Smith's pass, converted by Steve Thompson, resulted in Arlington's lone goal.

BANTAM DIVISION
TRAVEL TEAM
Elmhurst Huskies 6,
Bank of Arlington Heights
Rangers 0

Elmhurst had this game all the way. Great goal tending by Steve Schrager and Bob Dallstrom, who shared duties, kept the score down with 27 saves.

Elmhurst Huskies 6,
Bank of Arlington Heights
Rangers 1

Although the score doesn't show it, the Rangers had far more of this game than the last one. The Huskies still came away winners largely due to their great defense.

John Mitchell set up Larry Hermanson for the long Ranger goal.

BANTAM DIVISION
HOUSE LEAGUE
Hayatt International 7,
Ruud Realtors 2

Jeff Vanyek for Hyatt had a good game, scoring two goals and assisting on two others. George Kostoplous also stood out, scoring once and setting up three other goals. Mark Brierton notched a pair of goals and Joe Seligman and Pete Birkholz scored once. Assists were earned by Hall Seligman, Jeff Winkleman and Mark Krysiak.

Allen Lattof played well for Ruud, scoring one goal and assisting on Joe Carcerano's score.

Johnson's Sporting Goods 4,
Rich Port Realtors 2

Mike Fredian notched a hat trick and also earned an assist for Johnson's. Bob Riefke also had a great game, earning three assists. Paul Christiansen scored Johnson's other goal and John Finn earned an assist.

Joe Bugos scored for Rich Port assisted by Larry Bukos. Bob Nolte took a pass from Jeff Strang to complete the scoring.

Ruud Realtors 11,
Barrington Hawks 3

Ruud clicked in this game, swamping a Barrington team that didn't. Joe Carcerano scored 5 goals for Ruud, and Allen Lattof and Jim Hall each scored a hat trick and earned a pair of assists. Carl Engman earned three assists, Dave Flavin and Scott Holfeld two a piece. Jack Da Francisco, in goal for Barrington played well, making 17 saves.

Track, believe it or not, opens with Saturday meet

by ART MUGALIAN
Track and Field Editor

Maine East's track squad will jump the gun and begin the indoor season Saturday, but it certainly won't be a false start. Not the way Demon coach John Coughlan has it figured, anyway.

"We've always started on this date," Coughlan said. "A lot of the major high school track powers start this early, and if you look at our schedule you'll notice that we go up against most of them — Oak Park, Proviso West, Evanston, York.

"We'd rather start early and schedule only one meet per week," continued the Maine East coach. "That way we get a more balanced practice schedule all the way through the indoor season. So, hopefully, by the time of the indoor conference meet, we're in a position to do well."

Coughlan's team, runnerup last year in the Central Suburban League, will host Niles West and Riverside-Brookfield Saturday at 2 p.m.

But the season is a long one and it doesn't reach a climax until late May when the IHSA state meet is held — for the first time this year in two classes. Coughlan will use the first few meets to gather information on his 1975 Demons. Last year, Maine East sent seven athletes to the state meet in Charleston.

"Half our sprinters have graduated," conceded Coughlan, "but on the other hand, half of them are back. We feel that in the 440 and 880 relays we could very easily be as good as last year. In the distance races, we should be vastly improved."

Returning for the Demons are sprinters Sam Rea, only a junior, and Brian Nathanson. Distance runners Mark Tomasik, Dave Saethre, John Hinterhauser, and Bill Brown are also back.

Coughlan could be hurting in the field events where high jumpers Mike Smith and Rocky Read are gone, as is weight man Bob Racanelli. But the coach expects big things from high jumpers Bob Gaza and Rick Lindberg.

"We've got 138 kids out for track," said Coughlan, "and by starting this early we have the opportunity to give attention to all levels of our program and do a little more coaching."

The rest of the area trackmen will begin the indoor season in the next several weeks.

Rolling Meadows hockey

ROLLING MEADOWS TRAVELING SQUIRTS
ROLLING MEADOWS WARRIORS, 4
SKOKIE CHIEFS, 2

The Warriors resumed Northern Suburban Hockey League action at Skokie and came away with a 4-2 victory over a smaller team. Scoring for the Warriors were Ricky Perillo assisted by Kurt Smith, Greg Kowalewski unassisted. Perillo scored again assisted by Doug Ryan and Mike Gagliano. Mike Plantan ended the scoring assisted by Mike Yosenick.

ROLLING MEADOWS WARRIORS, 11
BARRINGTON WARRIORS, 1

Two Warriors teams met and the Rolling Meadows Warriors came out on top by 10 goals, winning 11 to 1. Rolling Meadows scored four times before Barrington and seven after. Bill Colacicco scored first on a breakaway unassisted. Ricky Perillo scored assisted by Mike Gagliano and Eric Ortinau. Mike Yosenick scored assisted by Scott Sanders. Ortinau was assisted by Kurt Smith. Greg Kowalewski scored unassisted. Pat Brunory was assisted by Bill Schroll. Kurt Smith was assisted by Ortinau. Mike Plantan scored unassisted. Ortinau was assisted by Kowalewski.

ROLLING MEADOWS WARRIORS, 1
NORTHBROOK "A", 4

The Warriors were kept very busy Sunday morning skating up and down the ice against the Northbrook "A" team. Northbrook outshot the Warriors 17 to 12. After a scoreless first period Northbrook scored first in the second period. Eric Ortinau tied it with an assist to Ricky Perillo. After that Northbrook scored three more times.

BANTAM TRAVEL DIVISION
ROLLING MEADOWS WARRIORS, 2
ELMHURST HUSKIES, 2

Plagued with penalties, but determined not to lose, the Warriors' all-out team effort resulted in a 2-2 tie with the Huskies. Mike Mueller and Tony Pusateri did an excellent job of goal-tending, while Dave King, assisted by Glen Smith and Pat Smith, unassisted, put the Warriors on the scoreboard.

ROLLING MEADOWS WARRIORS, 3
DOWNERS GROVE ROYALS, 4

The Warriors lost a close game to the Downers Grove Royals, but played a terrific game. Mike Mueller, the Warrior goalie, held the Royals at four goals, while Pat Smith, assisted by Rich Rieger; Dave King, assisted by Scott Wahl and Glen Smith; and Dave King, assisted by Pat Smith, pressured the Royals for the three Warrior goals.

ROLLING MEADOWS WARRIORS, 4
NORTHBROOK, 3

Playing good, hard, fast hockey to the end, the Warrior team beat Northbrook 4-3 in the last minute of the game. In goal for the Warriors, was Tony Pusateri, who turned away 25 of their 28 shots on goal. Scoring for the Warriors were Dave King, unassisted; Rich Rieger, assisted by Pat Smith and Bob Scott; Dave King, assisted by Bob Scott and Scott Wahl; and Pat Smith, unassisted. Good defensive work held the Northbrook team and gave the win to the Warriors.

ROLLING MEADOWS WARRIORS, 0
GLENVIEW, 4

The Bantam Travel team suffered their first shutout in a North Suburban League game at the hands of the first place Glenview team. Position hockey and teamwork beat the Warriors who, try though they may, couldn't break through Glenview's defense.

ROLLING MEADOWS WARRIORS, 1
BARRINGTON, 4

A fast moving, well disciplined Barrington team held the Warriors to one goal. Glen Fredrickson worked his way down ice and shot past an alert Barrington goalie to give the Warriors their only goal of the game.

Honor 'Tego' at The Lancer

Tickets are still available for a dinner honoring a longtime teacher and former head football coach at Arlington High School.

Curtis "Tego" Larsen will be honored Saturday, Jan. 25 at The Lancer Steak House.

Larsen, who as onetime head golf coach saw his team win a state meet, has been at the school for more than 30 years as an industrial arts teacher.

The night of dinner and dancing will begin at 6:30.

For tickets or further information, residents are asked to contact Bob Thompson, Roy Post or Ken Schaller at Arlington High School, 253-0200.

At Elk Grove Bowl

Ken Stevens of Helbig Jewelers rolled a superb 657 series in recent action in the Wednesday Night Queens and Kings league at Elk Grove Bowl. Stevens put together games of 191, 200, and 266.

Hersey heads frosh tourney

Blue ribbon showings by Jim McLean and Sean Flavin helped Hersey successfully defend its title at the Bloom High School frosh wrestling tourney.

Coach Gary McMorrow's Huskies have entered the eight-team meet only twice and won both times, piling up 77 points to outdistance Thornwood (63½), H. L. Richards (52) and Hillcrest (49) for the 1974 trophy.

McLean and Flavin, meanwhile, piled up five pins between them in six bouts, McLean at 105 decking his opening foe in 0:48 and going on to an 8-3 decision in the finals.

Flavin, up from his usual 138 to 145 pounds, had first, third and second round pins en route to his title.

Seven other Hersey grapplers also became place earners. John Pusatera (126), Steve Anderson (155) and Rich Maddiex (heavyweight) were runnersup, Rick Schoonover (138) notched a third and Don Oppenlander (119), Greg Lange (132) and Al Nagel (185) claimed fourth place finishes.

What Ziebart knows about rustproofing:

What car dealers know:

We use 2,000 pages of instructions compiled from factory specifications. Your car dealer uses a few pages of general directions from the salesman who sells him sealant.

We use 9 patented spray tools to get at every inch of vulnerable metal inside your car's body. Your car dealer uses 2, maybe 3 tools.

There are other important differences, too. And you should check them all out.

Grade school basketball facts

St. Zach's Friendship 23, Dempster 12

Paced by the aggressive play of Kurt Diedrick, the Zebras of St. Zachary's Friendship beat the Dempster Wildcats, 23-12. An excellent defensive game by the Zebra center Kevin Murray helped his team dominate the boards in the 1st half. Bill Yaccina stood out on defense with his fine ball control. Kurt Diedrick and Mike Mooney were high point men for the Zebras.

The Dempster Wildcats fell behind early and just weren't able to catch up. Randy McLeod was high point man for the Wildcats. Dave Stockwell, Norm Pokorny and Angie Damiano sparked on defense.

St. Emily's 23, St. Mark's 16

Led by the fine outside shooting of Bob Ward with 15 points, the playmaking of Billy Hubly and Joe Enright and the rebounding of Dave Rodiek and Lee Jurka, the St. Emily Eagles defeated a strong team from St. Marks, 23-16. After a close first quarter, which saw the Lionmen from St. Mark's leading, 7-6, the Eagles showed their fine offense and defense and pulled away to a 13-7 halftime lead. Joe Enright and Dave Rodiek helped out the Eagles' cause with four points each.

The Lions were led by Steve Alma and Tom Sanders with six and three points respectively. Lance Pearson and Scott Rubin came off the bench in the fourth quarter and stood out on defense.

St. Raymond's 25, Holmes 23

In a very close game, the Saints of St. Raymonds' squeaked by the Holmes' Hawks, 25-23. The game was close all the way as four points were the most that separated the two teams during the entire game. The fine floor play and clutch free throws by Mike Schmidt helped the Saints to their second straight win. Mike Schmidt was high point man with eight points followed closely by John Magnus with seven and Dave Keady with seven.

The Hawks from Holmes were led by Mike Matella with 14 points, high for the game. Tom Burke, Jamie Maas and Tom Burke also contributed points towards the Hawks final score.

MUSTANG ROLLER. Dorothy "Dotz" Johnson sends forth a strike ball during practice. She recently paced her Rolling Meadows team to a 9-0 victory over Hoffman Estates with a 435 series. The Mustangs held on to second place behind Forest View in the Mid-Suburban Conference.

At Fair Lanes Bowl

Rolling 500 or better series in the Rolling Meadows Classic League at Fair Lanes were Claudia King with a 646-232-226, Shirley Elliott with 556-202, Mary Lou Kolb with 536-195, Alice Hackett with 533-193, Gladys Freeman with 514-178, Lou Lawrenz with 511-203, Audrey Goldbogen with 506-183 and Elaine Andrews with 500-203.

'Y' swimming highlights

Northwest Suburban's YMCA's "A" Swim team met with the High Ridge YMCA of Chicago last Saturday and was victorious. The girls posted a score of 210 to 139 and the boys finished the day with a 255 to 61.

For the second week in a row, the Cadet girls and Midget boys placed first in every event. This was the first week the prep boys placed first in each event.

The team meets arch rival B. R. Ryall this Saturday, January 18th. The boys travel to Lombard in the morning and the girls compete in their home pool in the afternoon.

The first and second place finishers in the High Ridge meet are as follows:

H.E.A.A. announces soccer registration

The Hoffman Estates Athletic Association has announced the start of the 1975 girls and boys soccer program. Registration dates are Saturdays — Feb. 8, Mar. 1 and Mar. 22 at Vogelei Barn from 9 p.m. to 4 p.m. Registration will be limited to 500 children on a first-com-first-signed basis. Each team will consist of 15 or 16 players.

The soccer registration fee is $10 per child with a maximum limit of $30 per family. Each player will receive a complete soccer uniform including nylon jersey, pants and stockings for the $10 registration fee. The uniform is theirs to keep.

Games will be played on the fields at Union Oil, Golf and Meacham Rds. on Sunday afternoons beginning at noon.

The soccer program is again recruiting any interested male and female coaches and referees, due to the expansion of the program. No experience is necessary as soccer clinics will be held by Bill McAleese for coaches and by Mike Beers for refs. Both men are well-qualified in their fields.

Anyone interested in any capacity should contact Jim Napier, the soccer commissioner, at 885-3245.

Suzanne Pleshette

Suzanne, who plays Emily Hartley in the CBS series "The Bob Newhart Show," was born on Jan. 31, 1937 in New York City. She went to both Syracuse University and Finch College before embarking on an acting career on the New York stage. Her Broadway shows include parts in: "Compulsion," "The Cold Wind and the Warm," "The Golden Fleecing," "The Miracle Worker" and "Two for the Seesaw."

Her first movie was the Jerry Lewis' "The Geisha Boy," in which she co-starred. She has also appeared in numerous other motion pictures such as: "Rome Adventure," "The Birds," "A Distant Trumpet," "Fate is the Hunter," "Nevada Smith," "If It's Tuesday, This Must Be Belgium" and "Support Your Local Gunfighter." In addition, Suzanne has guest starred on almost every leading television series and she received two Emmy nominations for her role on "Dr. Kildare."

Would you please print a picture of Lee Majors? I would also like to know something about his background. Is he any relation to Farrah Fawcett? Include an address.

K.Y.
Palatine

Lee, who stars as Steve Austin in the ABC series "Six Million Dollar Man," is married to actress Farrah Fawcett. He was born in Wyandotte, Mich. (a Detroit suburb) and grew up with relatives in Kentucky who adopted him after his parents died.

Lee Majors

In high school he was a star athlete and he turned down an offer from the NFL's St. Louis Cardinals after graduating from Eastern Kentucky State College. Instead, he decided to go to Hollywood to pursue an acting career. After arriving, he began studying acting with Estelle Hermon and later he went to the MGM Studio Acting School. His first television role was as a co-star in "The Big Valley," the California-based western series which ran for four years. Next, he was in "The Man From Shiloh" and he also appeared in "Owen Marshall, Counselor at Law."

Lee made his motion picture debut in "Will Penny," co-starring with Charlton Heston and next he played a lawyer in "The Liberation of L.B. Jones." His other television credits include two "ABC Movies of the Week"—"The Ballad of Andy Crocker" and "Weekend of Terror." Lee, who continues to be quite active in sports such as touch football, golf, fishing and horseback riding, can be reached in care of ABC Press Relations, 1330 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y., 10019.

I would like some information on Don Meredith. Please include the football teams he played for and print a picture of him.

C.C.
Schaumburg

Don Meredith, who does occasional commentating on NBC football, has recently appeared on several segments of the series "Police Story" with Tony LoBianco. In addition, Don is one of the most knowledgeable and articulate football players in the professional ranks. Don is a nine-year NFL veteran and former All-Star quarterback for the Dallas Cowboys. He achieved great success and won a National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences Emmy award for "outstanding individual achievement in sports." Therefore, he became the second sportscaster in history to win an Emmy (Jim McKay, host of "ABC's Wide World of Sports" won the other).

Don was a two-time All-American at Southern Methodist University and came to the Dallas Cowboys, a newly-formed expansion team, in 1960. This team was in the 1966 NFL Championship Game and at the time Don was its quarterback.

Don is one of the few pro football players to retire while still in his prime. By the 1968 season, Don was the second-ranked passer among NFL quarterbacks, but he felt he lost some of his competitive edge and he decided not to play since he couldn't give the same 100% effort he had before.

Don ended his career with a fantastic pass completion percentage of better than 50%, connecting on 1,170 tosses of 2,308 attempts for 17,199 yards and 135 touchdowns.

Wednesday's Afterschool Special

"The Runaways," a drama of a teenage girl's struggle for survival in the city after leaving her family's suburban home, will have an encore presentation on ABC's acclaimed "Afterschool Specials" series, Wednesday, Jan. 22.

The production tells the story of Cindy Britton (Belinda Balaski), 17 years old and a diabetic, who is experiencing emotional conflicts caused by her widowed mother's planned remarriage.

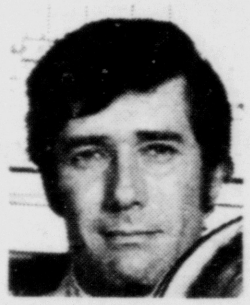
'We've only begun' says Emergency's Fuller

"This is our fourth season, and people are finally beginning to notice we are here." So says actor Robert Fuller of NBC's Saturday night opener "Emergency."

Sitting in one of the VIP lounges at Chicago's O'Hare Airport waiting for his plane to St. Louis which had been delayed for several hours, Bob went on to say, "We have not even come close to peaking. I've never been associated with a show with so wide an appeal" (Bob began his TV career as Robert Horton's replacement as the scout on the last years of "Wagon Train" and followed that up with several years of "Laramie" with John Smith). "Our audience consists of all age groups and all professions. I guess we are more popular with the youngsters since they have animated us for Saturday morning. But let me reiterate that our appeal doesn't stop with the youngsters."



Robert Fuller

Fuller was finishing up his fourth day of a five-day promo trip for the network which had taken him to New York, Cleveland and Columbus, Ohio and had just finished filming promos for the Chicago NBC affiliate, WMAQ-TV. While in the Windy City, he had taken a whirlwind tour of the neighborhood of his youth.

"Our biggest compliment has been the awards we have received from different civic organizations. The inquiries we get for information in forming pararescue unit around the nation has also been very gratifying. I noticed that today (Bob was in Chicago in early October), Chicago dedicated its first pararescue unit."

Before "Emergency" went into production for the 1974-75 season, two of its stars, Randolph Mantooth and Kevin Tighe had held out for large salary raises. When asked if this had affected the rest of the cast which includes former nightclub and recording star Julie London and husband Bobby Troup, Fuller answered, "No, not really. We are all veterans of TV or other fields of entertainment, and we really didn't let it affect us. I would have told them, and I think that Bobby and Julie would have too, to get all they can. In this business you are never sure when or where your next job will be. As for me, I've turned down a few jobs because the series has taken enough of my time. Bobby occasionally goes back to the saloons and Julie came out of retirement to do the series, so none of us are really looking for work right now. She still sings like a bird, but just doesn't get the thrill out of it she once did and doubts if she will ever do it professionally again."

Just as Fuller finished talking about his co-stars came the first boarding call for his flight to St. Louis, his fifth city in five days. "We haven't peaked yet, so look out Archie," he said as he finished his martini, grabbed his coat and made way to the green concourse.

ONE ON ONE...

TV SPORTS with JOE KOCH

Now that the NFL season is over, at least it will be Monday after the Pro Bowl, what remains for the sports fans to watch on a Sunday afternoon? Well, believe it or not, there will be more sports programming in the first quarter of 1975 than in the final quarter of '74.

At CBS the NFC games will be replaced by a two-hour version of "The CBS Sports Spectacular," an anthology show of different types of athletic events from all corners of the globe. This is a very nice idea, too bad ABC came up with it over a decade ago.

CBS's attempt at anthology will be followed by NBA basketball. With Brent Musburger and Oscar "The Big O" Robertson at courtside, this year's version should be better than last's. Pat Summerall is an excellent football play-by-play man, but basketball just was not his cup of tea. The same goes for Elgin Baylor, one of the all-time greats in the sport.

Howard Cosell

The National Hockey League has given NBC another chance after last year's treatment of the Stanley Cup Playoffs, especially the final round. Tim Ryan does an excellent job on hockey play-by-play and the inserts at intermission of "Peter Puck" explaining rules and answering questions makes it interesting for the youngsters watching. Hockey is one of the best spectator sports going and I would like to see some of that "Roone Arledge magic" applied to it.

Now we come to ABC, in my opinion, the leader in televised sports. For the next nine weeks or so, the "Superstars" will be around. In its third year, the "stars" will be adding competition among some of the best female athletes in this country. This move should not only give rise to athletic awareness among the feminine population, but should be very entertaining. The show will also include this season team competition with the world champions of baseball meeting the winners of the Super Bowl. Add to that, celebrity competition and the popular "Superstar Flashback" and ABC has a very entertaining show for the whole family.

Also included in the ABC lineup is the "American Sportsman" which is entering its 11th season. If the premiere episode on the artic wolf is any indication of the tone being set, we are in for the show's finest season.

Periodically "Howard Cosell's Sports Magazine" will be aired. The show will run from 15 minutes to one-half hour. You may find Howard obnoxious, self-centered and totally disgusting, but by his very nature you are forced to listen. Howard bullies you until you listen. You may not agree, in fact, you may disagree violently, but you will listen.

Closing out the Sunday afternoon on ABC is the Sunday version of "ABC's Wide World of Sports," the original sport anthology. This show, in its premiere year, ended up as the number one Sunday sports program last year. With ABC's Soviet arrangement, we should be in for some excellent programs from behind the Iron Curtain.

Add to the Sunday line-up various All-Star games, Saturday's Wide World, TVS and local college basketball, local hockey and pro basketball and there seems to be a full schedule.

So, don't worry, there's plenty coming up in the snow-and-cold filled months ahead.
